Nice. Now that the pants and names have been fixed, perhaps I won't give the 24 hours.

If Chad can't make the change I'm pretty sure that if we create a new room from scratch we can disable history. We should find a way to do that rather than continuing in perma-history mode,

I don't think turning off history is possible at all for Rooms, only chats with individuals.

Another approach would be to have 2 rooms: a threaded work-oriented room with the standard 18 month retention and the existing, non-threaded chat with history off. It doesn't look like there will be an option to have a threaded room with history off, https://sites.google.com/corp/google.com/how-to-chat-at-google/chat-retention

And we debated the meaning of that policy chart a few weeks ago. The top and bottom boxes seem to be contradictory.

Ah, must have missed that debate due to history off 😊 When I tried to create a new threaded room with history off, I didn't see the option to adjust history at all

We'll probably have to experiment to see what the rules actually are.
