SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

Ms. L.; et al.,
Petitioners-Plaintiffs,
v.
U.S Immigration and Customs
Enforcement (“ICE”); et al.,
Respondents-Defendants.

Case No.: 18cv0428 DMS (AHG)

ORDER (1) GRANTING PLAINTIFFS' MOTION TO RETURN REMOVED CLASS
MEMBERS AND QUALIFYING
ADDITIONAL FAMILY MEMBERS
AND (2) GRANTING IN PART AND DENYING IN PART PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR PROVISION OF
INFORMATION ABOUT DETAINED CLASS MEMBERS AND
AND FAMILY INSTRUCTED TO SELF-DEPORT

This case comes before the Court on Plaintiffs' (1) motion to return removed Class Members and Qualifying Additional Family Members ("QAFMs") and (2) motion for provision of information about detained Class Members and additional family members and family instructed to self-deport.<sup>1</sup> Defendants filed a consolidated opposition to Plaintiffs' motions, and Plaintiffs filed a consolidated reply. Following this briefing, <sup>1</sup> ICE has now rescinded its self-deport directive to the family, and thus, the Court denies that request as moot.

1 Defendants filed a Notice of Inadvertent Removal of Class Member,<sup>2</sup> and Plaintiffs filed a 2 Notice Regarding Pending Motions and Supplemental Request for Relief. The motion
3 came on for hearing on January 29, 2026. Lee Gelernt, Daniel Galindo and Natalie Behr 4 appeared for Plaintiffs, and Daniel Schutrum-Boward and Carmen Yori appeared for 5 Defendants.

6 Motion to Return Removed Class Members and Qualifying Additional Family 7 Members

8 In the original motion, Plaintiffs asked the Court to order Defendants to return, at 9 government expense, four family units that Plaintiffs alleged were wrongfully removed:
10 S.M.B.C.,<sup>3</sup> I.Y.O.D,<sup>4</sup> M.M.A.L., and M.A.J.<sup>5</sup> In the Notice Regarding Pending Motions, 11 Plaintiffs added two additional individuals: F.S.G.Y. and G.R.S.Y. According to the 12 parties, Defendants have agreed to return M.M.A.L. and G.R.S.Y., and as stated above, the 13 parties are still conferring as to F.S.G.Y. Therefore, the only family units at issue here are 14 S.M.B.C., I.Y.O.D., and M.A.J.

15 Before turning to those family units, however, the Court first addresses Defendants' 16 threshold arguments that (1) the Court lacks authority to order the return of these family 17 units, and (2) 8 U.S.C. § 1252(g) strips the Court of jurisdiction to grant the requested 18 relief. In a previous order in this case, the Court considered whether it had the authority 19 to order Defendants to allow parents previously deported without their children to return 20 to the United States. (ECF No. 456.) On that motion, as here, Defendants argued the Court

23 <sup>2</sup> The Class Member at issue in Defendants' Notice was later identified as F.S.G.Y. At oral argument, 24 counsel informed the Court they are conferring about F.S.G.Y. Pending those discussions, the Court does not address whether Defendants must return F.S.G.Y. to the United States.

25 <sup>3</sup> S.M.B.C. is referred to in the brief at both S.M.B.A. and S.B.M.C. The Court confirmed with Counsel 26 that this is one individual, S.M.B.C.

27 <sup>4</sup> I.Y.O.D. is referred to as I.O.Y.D. in her Declaration. To be consistent with Plaintiffs' briefs, the Court 28 refers to this individual as I.Y.O.D.

<sup>5</sup> In a footnote, Plaintiffs also mentioned an additional Class Member who was removed, later identified as A.M.R.F. Plaintiffs' Counsel are still gathering information about this Class Member, and thus the Court does not address whether Defendants must return A.M.R.F.

1 lacked jurisdiction to grant that relief and the issue of immigration was solely in the 2 purview of the executive and legislative branches of the federal government. The Court 3 rejected those arguments, and found it did have authority to grant the requested relief if the 4 parent was wrongfully removed. Defendants have not provided the Court with any 5 authority warranting reconsideration of that finding here. Thus, the Court again rejects 6 Defendants' argument that the Court lacks authority or jurisdiction to order Defendants to 7 return the removed Class Members and QAFMs to the United States. As before, the Court 8 will apply the "wrongfully removed" test to the families at issue here.

9       Turning first to S.M.B.C., this family unit consists of S.M.B.C. and her three minor 10 children, all of whom were removed on July 18, 2025. Plaintiffs argue the removal of this 11 family unit violated the Court's June 27, 2025 order staying the removal of Class Members 12 and QAFMs. Defendants do not dispute the timing of the removal of S.M.B.C. and her 13 children. Instead, Defendants contend S.M.B.C. and her children voluntarily departed the 14 United States, therefore Defendants have no obligation to return them.

15       As the party asking for S.M.B.C.'s return, Plaintiffs bear the burden of showing the 16 family was wrongfully removed. (ECF 456 at 8.) Plaintiffs have met that burden. In her 17 original Declaration, S.M.B.C. details her many interactions with ICE officers during her 18 scheduled check-ins. During those interactions, ICE officers instructed S.M.B.C. to bring 19 her minor children to her check-ins, (Decl. of S.M.B.C. in Supp. of Mot. ¶ 9, ECF No. 906-20 1), which she did. (Id.) Officers then told S.M.B.C. she had a deportation order, which 21 was contrary to the information she received from an attorney, and fitted S.M.B.C. with an 22 ankle monitor. (Id. ¶¶ 8-9.) S.M.B.C. then told the officers she had valid parole until 2027, 23 "but the officer said that my parole did not matter, asked if my children and I had passports, 24 and told me to buy plane tickets to self-deport." (Id. ¶ 10.) S.M.B.C. states she thereafter 25 "had at least eleven check-ins between June 10 and August 5." (Id. ¶ 17.) At her June 10 26 check-in, officers again told S.M.B.C. she had an "order of voluntary departure without a 27 specific removal date." (Id. ¶ 19.) S.M.B.C. told the officer she "did not want to return to 28

1 Honduras.” (Id.) Nevertheless, the officer then “demanded passports from my children
2 and me, along with proof of JBC’s U.S. citizenship.” (Id. ¶ 20.)

3 As a result of the ankle monitor and S.M.B.C.’s frequent check-ins, S.M.B.C. lost 4 her job and was under tremendous physical, emotional, and financial stress. (Id. ¶ 23.) In 5 her words: “There came a point when I reached deep desperation, and felt I was now 6 reliving the trauma from when they took [my daughter] from me in 2018.”<sup>6</sup> (Id. ¶ 18.) 7 During her July 1, 2025 telephonic check-in, S.M.B.C. stated she “wanted to give up and 8 return to Honduras only because [she] increasingly felt that [she] could not survive in the 9 U.S. under these conditions.” (Id. ¶ 24.) After regaining her composure, S.M.B.C.
10 “informed the officer that [she] had thought it over and in fact did not want to leave. The 11 officer understood but still demanded that [S.M.B.C.] give them our passports at the next 12 appointment if [S.M.B.C.] did not ‘return voluntarily.’” (Id.)

13 On July 8, 2025, S.M.B.C. surrendered her childrens’ passports to the officers, as 14 they instructed. (Id. ¶ 25.) The officer told her that if she did not self-deport, “‘ISAP would 15 decide for me’ because they had the passports and [she] already had a deportation order.” 16 (Id.) The officer also told her that if she was deported, “[her] children would go to foster 17 care or adoption.” (Id.)

18 Six days later, ICE officers came to S.M.B.C.’s house for a home visit. (Id. ¶ 26.)
19 According to S.M.B.C.:

20 One officer said they would facilitate my voluntary departure if I was not 21 planning to deport on my own. Overwhelmed, depressed and frustrated, I told 22 the officers they might as well ‘send me back’ because I had no other options 23 here. The officers told me to get our suitcases together and I complied and 24 started packing. My youngest child, [six-year-old U.S. citizen] JBC, saw me 25 packing and started to cry, saying that he did not want to go to Honduras. At that point, I told the officers that I did not actually want to go back to my home country and that I had never signed any kind of document or order for voluntary departure. The officer wanted me to sign a document but I refused.

27
28 <sup>6</sup> In May 2018, government officials forcibly separated S.M.B.C. from her then-five-year-old daughter when they sought asylum at the U.S.-Mexico border. (Id. ¶ 2.)

1       This did not make any difference to these officers—they took me and my 2       children to a motel and removed my ankle monitor. They detained us for three 3       days and then removed us to Honduras.

4       (Id.) Defendants do not dispute any of these facts. They simply state “[t]here are no 5       records of ERO removal for these individuals.” (Decl. of Byoung C. Park in Supp. of 6       Defs.’ Resp. to Mots. ¶ 4, ECF 919-1.)

7       Given the evidence set out above and the corroborating evidence set out in 8       S.M.B.C.’s Supplemental Declaration, (see Supp. Decl. of S.M.B.C. in Supp. of Reply, 9       ECF 920-1), Plaintiffs have shown S.M.B.C. and her family did not voluntarily depart the 10       United States. Rather, the evidence reflects they were removed despite having been 11       granted parole and in violation of this Court’s June 27, 2025 order staying the removal of 12       Class Members and QAFMs. Accordingly, Defendants must return S.M.B.C. and her 13       children to the United States.

14       The next family unit is I.Y.O.D. The removal of this family unit is strikingly similar 15       to the removal of S.M.B.C. and her children. (See Decl. of I.Y.O.D. in Supp. of Opp’n to 16       Mot. for Partial Reconsideration, ECF No. 854-2.) Plaintiffs contend their removal 17       violated the Settlement Agreement because they had been granted parole.<sup>7</sup> Defendants do 18       not dispute this family unit had been granted parole. They also do not dispute they did not 19       comply with the INA when they removed this family despite their parole status. On the 20       present record, Plaintiffs have shown the removal of I.Y.O.D. and her children was 21       unlawful. Accordingly, Defendants must return them to the United States.

22       The final family unit at issue is M.A.J., whose removal also bears a striking 23       similarity to the removals of S.M.B.C. and I.Y.O.D.. Plaintiffs argue Defendants 24       wrongfully removed this family unit in violation of the Settlement Agreement because they 25       were removed before they had an opportunity to apply for parole. As with I.Y.O.D.,

26
27
28       

<sup>7</sup> Plaintiffs also claim their removal violated the Immigration and Nationality Act (“INA”), but assert the Court need not reach that question because the removals violated the Settlement Agreement.

1 Defendants do not address M.A.J.’s removal, or dispute the facts surrounding removal of 2 this family unit. Given the facts, and Defendants’ failure to refute them, Plaintiffs have 3 also shown the removal of this family unit was unlawful. Accordingly, Defendants must 4 return them to the United States, as well.

5 The only remaining issue here, and for M.M.A.L. and G.R.S.Y., is whether 6 Defendants must bear the expense of returning these Class Members and QAFMs to the 7 United States. Clearly, the Court has authority to direct Defendants to “facilitate” the 8 return of these Class Members and QAFMs. Noem v. Abrego Garcia, 604 U.S. ___, 145
9 S.Ct. 1017, 1018 (2025). Department of Homeland Security Policy states, “[f]acilitating 10 an alien’s return does not necessarily include funding the alien’s travel via commercial 11 carrier to the United States or making flight arrangements for the alien[,]” ICE Policy 12 Directive 11061.1 (Feb. 24, 2012),
https://www.ice.gov/doclib/foia/dro\_policy\_memos/11061.1\_current\_policy\_facilitating\_return.pdf. However, the Policy also does not prohibit DHS from funding a noncitizen’s 15 return under appropriate circumstances.

16 Here, the undisputed circumstances are as follows: ICE officers instructed three 17 mothers to bring their children to their check-in appointments. One of those mothers was 18 a Ms. L. Class Member. One was a QAFM. Each of them had been granted parole through 19 2027, and each of them had at least one child who was a U.S. citizen. One of those mothers 20 had been forcibly separated from her daughter in 2018 pursuant to the first Trump 21 Administration’s family separation policy. The third mother was not a Class Member or a 22 QAFM, but one of her children was a Class Member due to his separation from his father 23 in 2018. At their respective check-in appointments, ICE officers told the mothers they had 24 deportation or removal orders for each of them despite two of them having parole status.
25 The officers also told the mothers to bring their passports and their childrens’ passports to 26 their appointments. With the mothers, children, and passports in hand, the officers then 27 transported these families to a hotel or motel, and later boarded them onto an aircraft and 28 removed them from the United States.

Given these circumstances, and in particular, the Class Member or QAFM status of the family members, the parole status of two of the family members, and that the removal of one family occurred after this Court ordered a stay of removals of Class Members and QAFMs, the Court finds Defendants should bear the expense of returning these family units to the United States. Each of the removals was unlawful, and absent the removals, these families would still be in the United States and have access to the benefits and resources they are entitled to under the Settlement Agreement. Although the Settlement Agreement does not prohibit Defendants from enforcing the laws of the United States, the removals at issue here clearly violated the spirit of the Agreement, which was to effect and support reunification in the United States of families that had been separated pursuant to the family separation policy. Defendants' decision to remove these families rendered the benefits of the Settlement Agreement illusory for these families, and the manner in which each of these removals was affected, in addition to being unlawful, involved lies, deception, and coercion. For these reasons, and to enforce the terms of the Settlement Agreement as to these families, (see Settlement Agreement § VII.D), Defendants shall bear the cost of returning these family units to the United States.

Motion for Provision of Information About Detained Class Members and Additional Family Members

In this motion, Plaintiffs ask the Court to order Defendants to provide the basis for detention for a number of individual Class Members and QAFMs. Defendants oppose the motion on the grounds Plaintiffs can obtain this information elsewhere, and Defendants are not required to provide this information under the terms of the Settlement Agreement.

In response to Defendants' first argument, Plaintiffs state it is difficult for them to obtain the requested information through other sources. Indeed, an attorney for one of the individuals that was detained explains that during the course of her client's detention, "I tried repeatedly to get in touch with an ICE officer in charge of [my client's] case. I called the detention center multiple times, and my calls were either disconnected or rang without answer." (Decl. of Molly Kammien in Supp. of Notice Regarding Pending Motions ¶ 10,

1 ECF No. 931-5.) Ms. Kammien goes on to state that “[a]t no point during [my client’s] 2 arrest, detention, and removal proceedings did anyone from the government provide any 3 explanation as to why [my client] had been detained, or why the government was now 4 actively seeking [my client’s] removal.” (Id.) Thus, although it may be theoretically 5 possible for Plaintiffs’ counsel to obtain information about the reason for their client’s 6 detention from sources other than Defendants, efforts to obtain that information from those 7 sources is time-consuming and often unsuccessful. Presumably, Defendants have access 8 to the information, and they can easily share that information with Plaintiffs’ counsel.
9 Indeed, for Class Members and QAFMs that were on parole prior to being detained, 10 8.C.F.R. § 241.4(l) requires Defendants to provide those individuals with notice “of the 11 reasons for revocation of [their] release or parole.” 8 C.F.R. § 241.4(l)(1). Assuming 12 Defendants complied with that regulation, it should be easy for them to provide the 13 requisite notices to Plaintiffs’ counsel so they can determine the basis for these individuals’ 14 detentions. As a matter of common courtesy and cooperation, and to ensure Class 15 Members and QAFMs have full access the benefits of the Settlement Agreement, the Court 16 orders Defendants to provide Plaintiffs’ Counsel with the requested information.
