Great concept... needs bigger sizes.

By Tizzy-Licious TOP 500 REVIEWER on November 24, 2014

Size: Large 32-36 inches

I got this to test and review and give my honest opinion. I think it is a great concept. Once I start sweating, my arm band that I keep my phone in starts to irritating my arm. I have to have my phone when I work out because I put on Pandora and run my Sport Tracker app. The idea of just putting this over my waist trainer and sticking my phone inside was right up my alley. Unfortunately, even the largest size is meant for skinny people. I could not wear it at all. But, I think if they made some larger sizes this product would really take off. Big people work out too and we want something convenient like this.

Customer Images

Convenient and Secure

By Sam S on December 8, 2014

Size: Large 32-35 inches

This is just what I needed! I often wear yoga pants, skorts or leggings that have no pockets during my workouts. But when I am at they gym, I need a place to keep my ID, phone, earbuds and keys. If I exercise outside, I need even more. I have used a fanny pack that is rather unflattering and causes "muffin top".

I was lucky to have the opportunity to try a competitors exercise belt and loved it. My only complaint was this other product was that it didn't have any zippers so my valuables were not secure. Not the case with this waist pack! One compartment has a zipper and is nice for securely keeping money or ID. The other opening is open for easy access which is nice for keeping my phone during my workout. I just wish this came in a range of fashionable colors.

I received this item for review.

Well designed and comfortable

By jneutron on January 1, 2015

Verified Purchase

I ordered the Product Stop belt on Dec. 20 at the same time as a FlipBelt. The FlipBelt arrived in just 4 days and the Product Stop belt did not arrive until the 27th, after Christmas. The Product Stop belt did not offer an extra large size as did the FlipBelt, which also offered more color selection, but the FlipBelt cost $10 more. Both belts could fit my large cell phone, a Galaxy Note 3. The FlipBelt looks more durable because there is a strengthening cross stitch at each side of the pocket slits to help prevent unraveling and tearing of the pocket seam. The Product Stop belt lacks the pocket cross stitch and I predict the pocket seams will unravel over time from stretching over the large cell phone. Other than these points, the Fitness Belt by Product Stop is a good quality product and serves the essential purpose of carrying your (large) cell phone while exercising. The stretchable material and buckle-less design make it comfortable during running and hiking.

Comfortable to wear

By Altair on December 8, 2014

Size: Medium 29-32 inches

I wanted a belt with two pockets to keep phone (Galaxy Note) and keys separate to prevent scratching. Luckily I've been supplied such product to me for review.

I have a Galaxy Note 3 phone and it is a snug fit in this belt. The belt is comfortable, stays in place and doesn't move when I run. It has 1 desecrate zipper for your keys or whatever you want to to keep safe while exercising. It is basically a tube with three pouches into which you put your phone or music player and whatever else you need. Once flipped over all the pouches are hidden and everything is

The belt works great, does not jiggle, stays put. My apple-shaped body usually wears a size 4-6, I ordered a medium, the belt fits nicely. I don't have anything else to compare to, but so far this product is great, and cheaper than the alternatives.

Running Waist Pack
By Marta on November 29, 2014

Size: Medium: 29-32 inches
Didn't think that it would work at first. Ended up loving the product. Fits great around the waist. I can jog without carrying my keys in my pocket. I am able to fit my cell, money, and keys without any hassle. I could barely tell that I was wearing the belt. Definitely recommend for anyone that exercises.

Great Product!
By macy's red star on March 2, 2015

Size: Medium: 29-32 inches Verified Purchase
Ordered this so I could go on shorter runs without having to bring along a hydration belt. To be honest, I wasn't entirely sure my Samsung Galaxy s5 would be able to fit since most running products that claim they can fit a phone are really just meant for small iPhones. Fortunately this product came quickly because it's available on Prime and I was able to use it right away for a short 4 miler.

First off, when ordering things for running I look for comfort, and by that I mean, can I forget I have it on when I am moving around? The answer is yes. The belt is really comfy and moves with my body without being too tight or loose where it is constantly shifting around.

The second is, what can I take with me? This belt has a surprising amount of space for keys, I.d. and credit cards, gels or any other type of fuel for your runs, AND--very important for me--it easily fits my s5 so I feel safe when I run around the city.

Would recommend to anyone!

Product Description

Running Belt by Rise Up is the perfect product for you!

The Runners Belt contains 4 generously sized pockets which can easily store wallets, phones, Mp3 players, ID cards and other small items.

The flip side of the belt, contains reflective highlights and a reflective Rise Up logo which, when struck with a beam of light, reflects back, highlighting the wearer and alerting others to their presence, ideal for use when exercising in darkened areas.

The exercise belt is a basic black, and made from a 92% polyester/8% spandex blend, ensuring a snug, comfortable fit that won't restrict movement, yet will remain tight and secure when fully loaded. The waist pack can function with security in mind when you flip belt, ensuring that all contents and openings face inwards for maximum security, and is machine washable

Runs bigger than the size measurements! But great product and excellent customer service
By Blue on August 15, 2015
Verified Purchase
I know most reviews are saying that the belt runs small, and it does in terms of a traditional S/M/L guideline. But if you're using the measurements in the size chart, know that the belts run on the large size. I'm 5' and a size 4 at Lululemon, 26 inch waist, 31 inch hips. My waist size is a Medium on the RiseUp chart (26-27 inches), but they advise to order one size larger if you plan to wear it on your hips.

So I ordered a Large (28-31 inches) and I was swimming in it. Unstretched, the large measured 31 inches around, not 28 inches. It should be a few inches smaller than your hips (if you plan to wear it on your hips) so that the stretch will hold the belt and your items in place. The Large size would not stay up, and constantly rotated around my hips as I ran, so the items did not feel very secure.

Amazon wouldn't allow me to exchange it for a smaller size (only a refund) so I contacted RiseUp and they were amazing. In less than 24 hours I had the Medium size on my doorstep and took it out for a 9 mile run. This size was perfect! Even wearing it on my waist there was an inch of slack, so pulled down over my hips it was nice and snug. My items felt very secure: there was no bouncing around, and the belt stayed in place this time (see picture). For my inaugural 9 mile run I stashed in the belt, car key (clipped on the convenient cord), two doggie poop bags, two dog biscuits, smartphone, and three credit cards.

Some reviewers cautioned that credit cards will work their way out of the slots, so I did my test run with 3 expired credit cards. I'm happy to report that not a single one came out or was lost, but if I were to run with real cards I would probably use a small flat coin purse (as pictured) to stash them in. Read more › body. No more bumping of your phone against your body with every step. Although I do use armbands at times, I prefer a running belt when it gets warmer. It keeps sweaty neoprene off my bare arm. Also, you can put other items in a running belt besides your phone - like car keys & remote, which those key slots on armbands never hold.

Length: 2:23 Mins

This is a flip style belt - meaning you place items through the slits in the center seam (see vlokleo). Then you can (if you wish, flip the slits toward your body for extra security.

As you can see from this video, this belt is well made.
▶What I like
* Good weight stretchy spandex
* Reflective stripe running the length of the belt on top & bottom
* Key clip on elastic cord - so key doesn't slip out & get lost
* Customer service is 5 star ★★★★★. When they realized I had a sizing issue, they contacted me right away and made it right.

▶So what about the sizing?
It's important to get it right. On the video I show you an XL belt - that measures 32 inches un-stretched (They say it fits waists 31"-35") I can get about 5-6 more inches more when I stretch it - And that is REALLY stretching it. Smaller sizes will have less inches of stretch. So, you need to consider where you want it to fit (hips or waist) and then whether you can get it on over your head or over your hips when stretched. So - be sure to measure the widest part of your body you need to get it over before ordering. Ladies - this is going to be more of an issue for you because we have wider hips - going over the head may work better for some people. It would be nice to know the un-stretched & stretched sizes for SM, Med, L, XL. Read more ›

I love this belt! It's great for walking, the gym, and shopping. The built-in pockets make it easy to take all your "stuff" and be hands free, which is a great safety feature. My I-phone fits well. The sizing runs small so I would go one size up. The belt is super light and comfortable to wear.

I love how useful this product is. It fits just tight enough so you do not feel as if you are wearing it, and it conceals perfectly underneath your clothes. I will we using this for more than when I work out. I will be using this anytime I don;t want to use my purse. I am 5'"8" and weigh 140lbs. I ordered a medium and it fits perfectly.

Runs very very small but serves its purpose
By eec on June 16, 2015

Size: Medium Verified Purchase
This thing is quite small. I am a size 4 clothing size and I measured my hip size before ordering, ordered a medium and it was still too small. It fits snuggly around my waist, a little like a back brace would and putting it on is like squeezing into a pair of tight jeans. I only gave it 4 stars because my friend uses a $5 arm brace that holds her phone and it works just fine. This thing was cheaper than the other belts similar to it but still not cheap. I'm kind of concerned about having my cell phone on my stomach all that time cause of radiation and what not. Also when I sweat my phone gets damp since its on my body.

On the plus side it doesn't fall or move when I'm working out, even when I'm jumping on a trampoline. So in my opinion it does what it sets out to do and if you don't mind paying more than an arm brace and the phone radiation then its worth it. I kinda wish I had bought the arm brace for cheaper but I'm too lazy to return this and I'm going to use it cause I paid for it (radiation or not). Plus it does kinda feel good supporting my back since it fits so snug.

Size way up!
I really like that the belt sits flat, has lots of storage, is lightweight, and has reflective strips. My only problem is that the sizing is way off; it's way too small. Read more

Pretty nice
It's okay. Little awkward to get things in and out but then again you don't want them falling out if running.

Serves its purpose but too small! I'm 5'1 118 pounds and barely fit in a Medium. I would suggest ordering 2 sizes bigger. I still wear mine, just around my naval area. Read more

Cute, slender, but holds a bunch

By Shandel Robinson on March 14, 2015

The Best Running Belt - FIT Belt is extremely cool for workouts. Looks are so deceiving with this. You wonder "where is it all going to go". Well, it has multiple areas to put your keys, money, id, and cell phone. If you have pets, this is great. It has a little clamp you can attach your dog's leash to it so you can exercise with your pet without having to hold their leash. I'm impressed my Samsung fit in there with no problems. I did receive this product at a discount, however, all opinions are my own and they reflect my honest and unbiased opinion.

A compartment for everything you need to take along when working out or running

By Mary T on March 3, 2015

Size: Large

The F.I.T. Belt is sturdy and well made. The fabric is high quality spandex and nylon, and is machine-washable. There's no need to worry where to put your keys, license and phone when you're running a 5k or half marathon because the FIT Belt has compartments for all the gear you need to take along. The pocket in the front is secured with a hidden zipper and two side pouches are deep. I don't think anything would accidentally fall out of them. One of the deep pouches has a hook which you can attach your keys. I am disappointed that I won't be able to use the belt. I ordered the size that would fit my waist, mistakenly assuming that the belt was stretch enough to get it on. So if you have "curves" or an hourglass figure, you'll want to be sure to order up a size, so you can get the belt on. I received this product at a discounted price for the purposes of a product review. All opinions are my own and they reflect my honest and unbiased opinion.

Price discrepancy between sizes is disappointing. Which is a shame since I like the belt but hate the price gouge.

By Amazon Customer on April 21, 2015

Size: Small Verified Purchase

I have a level belt that I have owned for quite some time but wanted to get another similar style belt to have on hand. I don't like the ones with the one large zipper style pocket that have the expandable stretch waist band as they tend to not be as secure. What attracted me to this one, besides the great price (on the small) that it has some open slits for putting in your items. It also has a small zippered pocket which is

Published 7 days ago by MuscRibles

Nice belt. Comfortable

Really nice fitness belt. Had purchased a different one and it wasn't comfortable. Plenty of storage space. It awesome for my keys. The zipper pocket gives me a little extra sense of security that as I run, my key won't accidentally slip out of the holes (had that happen to me once!) and it also has a clip inside as well. I ended up ordering a small (I'm 5'1 and wear a size 26 or 27 in pants and do not have wide hips), but because of how I like to wear the belt, which is lower on the hips, it ended up feeling a bit too snug. I had a phone and my keys in the belt. If you like to wear it high up on the waist, it might be great for that but it just felt a tad too tight and uncomfortable sitting lower. It doesn't seem like it has enough stretch to fit one size bigger as indicated in the description.

So no big deal, I wasn't that worried because it is more a preference thing on my part and since I like the belt, I decided that I will just buy a medium as well. But I am sorely disappointed that I would have to pay $10 more for a medium over what I paid for on the small! The list price is the same for all sizes but the "sale" price different between the medium and large is only $1 so not sure why the gouge going from small to medium, (same seller for all sizes) So at this time, I will pass on buying an additional FIT Belt and continue to use my other one. If you don't mind being gouged in pricing difference between sizes, then the belt is great.

Also works to keep valuables safe while traveling!

By C'est La Vie [illegible] on March 3, 2015

Size: Medium

I bought this fitbelt in a size medium during a promotional launch. Laying flat it is about 14" wide, and fit my son great (he wears a size 32 jeans, but this is smaller than that since he wears it on his waist and not on his hips). I also tried it on and found it to be extremely comfortable. The pockets allow for easy storage of keys, credits cards and other essentials while running and does not inhibit movement. I am thinking this would also be great while traveling to securely store your credit cards while on subways, trains and airports. Your keys could also be clipped to the belt with the secure hook if you so prefer. It is washable and ok to put in the dryer which is great (and necessary) after exercising. Would highly recommend!

I so wanted to love it! And if the large size

By Kay on October 8, 2015

Verified Purchase

I so wanted to love it! And if the large size, was actually a Large. I might have! I wear Larges in men's clothing (and they are usually a little baggy. I like to be covered, and hate skin tight clothing. The Large belt, is more like a medium. However, I do love the pockets, and the material, and if I had a correctly sized belt for me, then I think I might love it, it feels like it would not be bothersome while walking, as long as I had the right size of course. I did receive a discount for an honest review of this product.

Comfortable to wear but not very durable.

By Amazon Customer on November 29, 2015

Size: X-Large Verified Purchase

Decent fitness belt. I use mine during exercise to carry my cell phone (Galaxy S5), an insulin pump, and various other necessities (energy gels, etc.). There is a zipper pouch and two additional openings that provide access to four storage areas. Unfortunately, the zipper pouch is just a bit too small for my insulin pump, but it accommodates cash, credit cards, or ID just fine. I recently completed the Richmond half marathon, and the belt easily accommodated my phone, my insulin pump, ID/cash/credit cards/keys, four energy gel pouches, three Ziploc snack bags of raisins, two bags of sport beans, and a tube of glucose tablets.

Pros:
- Belt is very comfortable to wear. I ordered a large, and it is just snug enough around my abdomen (I wear 36-inch pants).
- My S5 phone fits very well in the pouch, and there is plenty of room for other items in the five total "compartments".
- Polyester fabric dries quickly, and the color has not faded over the past several months.

Cons:
- Not much friction inside the pockets, and no closure for the openings. When I run, I feel my phone & insulin pump migrating towards the openings - a bit of a distraction, and I'm constantly adjusting my items to make sure they don't fall out in the middle of a run. A zipper or Velcro closure would be helpful to keep items more secure.
- It can be difficult locating the openings to retrieve items - missed a couple phone calls trying to figure out how to get my phone out.
- Seams began to separate rather quickly - I've only owned the belt four months, yet I have had to sew one of the seams closed & strengthen the stitches to prevent it from opening completely & dumping my items along the running trail (However, I exercise twice a day, every day, so my belt may be subjected to

By Jeffrey Alvarado on January 19, 2015

Size: X-Large Color: Black

This is one of the coolest things I've ever used while working out. I no longer have to worry about leaving my wallet and keys in a locker or have to carry a bag around with me. It easily holds everything and I can wear it under my shirt where no one can see it. Honestly though I think the best part about it is that it will stretch enough to hold my phone. Why is this impressive? I have an iphone 6 plus and I keep it in an otterbox size case. I didnt think there would be any way it would fit but I was happily surprised. I highly recommend the for anyone that loves to workout. It has so many uses and you will use it everyday

Better than armband in cold weather

By Lee Reichenberger on January 5, 2015

Size: Small Color: Black

Works great when it's cold out when wearing a jacket or long sleeve shirt instead of using an armband that you can't access because it's covered and the earphone wires are flailing everywhere for your phone/music. Using the band you can simply reach down and access your phone/music while still keeping your earphone wires under your clothing

When I first opened the package I was ready to send it back. I thought this is the silliest thing I have ever seen! I got it to be able to mainly put my car keys in it. I thought it is going to be uncomfortable and the keys will poke me and plus it looks big (I got a large). I wear a size 10 in pants and to my surprise the belt fit comfortably. I went to exercise and put my keys in the belt and it was very comfortable. I was very surprised! I would definitely recommend this product! You can put a lot in the belt and I think it's a great buy! If I could recommend an improvement it would be that the belt fastens because I don't like putting it over my head but it's a small price to pay!

No more hiding keys! Yay!!!!

By Quinton on December 30, 2014

Size: Large Color: Black

I've always had to hide my keys or stuff them in my shoe whenever I went for a run or bike ride. I bought this hoping that it would solve this problem and it has done the trick so far! It's very well made and seems durable even when running.

Pleased.

By J. Marshall on April 18, 2015

Verified Purchase

I was hesitant about this because I was afraid it would ride up and down during my run. I wore it for the first time last week for my 11 miler. It did not stay at my hips like I thought it would, but it did "ride up" to sit at my natural waist and did not move from there. I carried my iPhone, key and chap stick in it with no problem. I will be fine to wear this to my half marathon in May.

My bra killed my phone - Wish I had this belt then!

By Skinana on January 17, 2016

Size: Medium Color: Pink Verified Purchase

I killed my phone a few months back as I walk big miles daily and stuck the phone down the front of my bra so I wouldn't drop it.....little did I realize how much moisture I created and the cover on the phone and the additional cover on the phone had lots of moisture. Amazingly it worked for a few hours after I discovered it being wet....cleaned it off and was using it..... then it died and the phone people nor I could resurrect the phone and had to buy a new phone which I also lost all my contacts. A friend recommended this belt and it works perfectly!

1 vote	Question:	Hi. Do you wear it on your waist or hips and why? Thank you. :)
	Answer:	You can choose which is more comfortable for you, most tend to wear it at the hip. Those with a pronounced difference between the waist and hip measurement tend to get less movement in the belt at their waist. 	Answer:	This band is AMAZING! While it isn't adjustable, it fits great. I went a size smaller than my pant size (wear a large in pants so I went with a Medium in the belt) and it stays in place without any slipping. Fits a iPhone 6 Plus

By TheLovelyLotus on March 31, 2015

Size: Small

I orginally ordered this item to see if I could use it for my iPhone 6 Plus. I have a hard time finding a running item that I can use with my current phone especially since it is so big to carry. Running with it in my hand may be dangerous. As soon as it arrived I tried to place my phone in zipper pocket along the band. With some careful maneuvering I was able to fit my phone with in the belt. It does fit in the other storage spots as well but I wanted the security of the zipper. The only way it fits is with out a phone case. The material seems to be quality material and strong enough to hold my phone in place and stretchy. I didn't not want to add any other items in the same pocket I am already using for my huge phone. The belt has three areas to put items in. One zippered and the other two just two inch openings. Keep it simple, keys, cards, or phone. It is a slim belt not a fanny pack. It is not too wide that it covers your stomach or falls below your waist. I ordered a size small which I thought would be a looser fit for me since they do offer xsmall. I had to return the small for a medium. I am a size 2 in pants. So if you order I would suggest thinking about ordering a size larger for a looser fit. I like the belt and will continue to use it for running.

Good quality, outstanding service

By Justin M. Ma on April 9, 2015

Size: M Verified Purchase

This is made of high quality materials. It has one zipper pouch, and another with a clip that is good for a key ring. The sellers provided great service - I bought the wrong size, and they did not hesitate to help me re-size.

A word on sizing - you'll want it around your waist for running; it's not going to stay on your hips. I have a 27" waist and the Small was the appropriate size.

Can't recommend it enough!

By Heather on February 25, 2015

Size: Large

Full disclosure, I got this while it was on a promotion that made it only $1 out of pocket for me, before that I had not known that this particular product existed. That being said, this thing is AWESOME. I haven't yet invested in a nice fitness tracker, so my Iphone is what keeps track of my daily steps, and now I can actually have it on me at all times without it being annoying. This band is discreet, when I wear it with my regular clothes you can't tell, so I can see myself using it on family vacations to amusement parks, etc, and when I run with it, it doesn't jiggle around one bit, even with my phone, keys and cards inside. It pairs perfectly with my bluetooth headphones, so I don't have to worry about either while I exercise. Glad as I am that I was able to get it for so cheap, it is WELL worth the original price, and I will definitely be recommending it to friends. Thanks!

By Tina on April 6, 2015

Size: X-Large

I have been trying to be more active, and as the weather warms up, I don't want to wear a jacket with zippered pockets like I do in cold weather. So when I was offered a good deal I'm exchange for an honest review, I jumped at the chance. I currently have a Samsung S3 phone, without a case I can maneuver my phone into the zippered compartment. Unfortunately, I will be getting a new phone in a few months, at which time I will likely be unable to use this anymore, which is a bummer because it's not bulky and comfortable to wear. I may still use it for keys, or money if we take a bike ride to brunch or something like that, but I don't think it will fit a larger phone, which is the trend these days. So if you don't plan to put a smart phone in it, or you have a smaller phone, this is a great product!

Works great for my IPhone 5s in it LifeProof case

By L. Root on April 4, 2015

Works great for my IPhone 5s in it LifeProof case. Little hard to get my head phone cord in, but it's doable. I'm 5'2", 116 pounds, 25 inch waist, 29 inch hips, size 00 to 0 depending on brands. Keeps everything in tight and puts a bit of compression on my hips that I like. Ordered an extra small.

Great sport/gym belt

By Bostonite on May 18, 2015

Verified Purchase

This is a great belt! Comfy and I love that there is zip pocket for safety. I am a size 10/12 and got the large which fits comfortably over my clothes. OH, and the customer service is amazing! Above and beyond what you would expect. I had a problem and they went out of their way to fix it and sent me a new belt! Very happy customer.

Great product for runners

Size: Large (31-34") Verified Purchase

I love this. It is light weight, holds my Samsung Galaxy s5, with the otterbox, with ease. I dont struggle to get my phone in or out of the pockets. My stuff doesn't bounce around during a run, so it doesn't rub against me. Since there are no buckles or velcro it doesn't irritate my skin. The sizing is accurate on the website, it doesn't stretch out after repeated uses. Great product for a good price. I haven't used it for a day at the flea market, but since it sits perfectly under my clothes with little bulge, with my stuff in it, you'll have some bulge with a phone, I think it would be great.

Size: X-Small (25-27") Verified Purchase

Purchased this as a gift for the wife since she is a fitness freak. She loved it! She hated using those iPhone arm bands so this was the perfect solution. It's great because she can also carry her ID, credit card and a key and go to the gym without having to bring her purse. She normally leaves her purse in the trunk but there have been a lot of car break-ins at the gym. This is perfect for the gym, hiking and even traveling. It's versatile and not bulky.

This fanny pack is very comfortable. I wear it while I run errands. My HTC one phone, keys, and credit cards fit well in the pockets. I wear a size 8 in pants and got the belt in a Large because I did not want it to be too snug over my clothes.

Perfect for working out with a large phone!

Size: X-Large (34-38") Verified Purchase
This waist pack is awesome. I ordered it to use on a trip I was taking to Europe instead of a money belt or waist pack. It fit nicely under my tops and you couldn't even tell it was there. I wore mine on my hips over my jeans/shorts rather than my waist. My husband wore his tucked under his jeans. Both ways worked great and it was very comfortable to wear. We used the zippered pocket for cash & credit cards, and I tucked my cell phone into the front of the belt so it was safe, but easily accessible. I put other small items that I needed throughout the day into the rest of the belt and everything stayed in with no problem. You do need to make sure the items are tucked away from the openings, though. Although nothing ever fell out of the belt, if I had something tucked close to the opening, it "felt" like it could fall out. At no point in time did I feel like a pickpocket could easily reach in and lift anything off of me.
Regarding sizing: I wear a size 6 pants or a medium in most clothing. I bought a size up based on other reviews and that was a mistake. The customer service to help me exchange the belt was EXCELLENT. In the end, I wore a medium as usual, so I'd suggest just going with the size you normally wear.
Regarding quality: I thought the quality of the belt was great. It didn't get overly stretched out with all the wear and held up great.
I would use this belt for running and travelling and I would certainly buy from this company again.

I needed a fanny pack for walking to hold my keys & cell phone. I didn't want the bulk & buckle. This seemed the perfect solution. I received it today & tried it on. I ordered the large because I wanted it to ride around my hips & not my waist. I'm 5' 1" & 106 lbs. This is perfect, sits at hips & with everything in it doesn't feel too heavy! Very nice product, might even take it to Mexico to carry some essentials while sight seeing. 2 perforated pockets & one zippered pocket ... I worried about the perforated pocket being on the outside & items falling out, but it will easily flip the opening to inside for more protection.

I love how my large phone fits well and doesn't feel bulky while running

By Aundrea TOP 100 REVIEWER on March 17, 2015

I love running and working out and am always looking for ways to make my workouts better and more convenient. I used to carry an MP3 player that fit in the lower back zip pocket of my Lululemon running shorts and capris. Now I use my smart phone for my music and to track my run, so I've had a difficult time finding a comfortable way to carry my S4 and my keys. I've been using an armband case to carry my phone with me, but it doesn't fit my keys and is bulky on my arm. This product is a good alternative to that. After using it for a bit here's what I like and don't like about this belt:

Likes:

-Comfort: This is by far the most comfortable way I've found to carry my phone. I have a Samsung S4, which is a larger phone. Realistically, it's difficult to find a comfortable way to carry a phone that big on a run. The arm case does the job, but it feels bulky on my arm. Not to mention that it can only carry a phone, no keys or anything else. With the belt I prefer putting my phone in the band and then turning it so my phone sits on my lower back. After a minute I forget it's there. If it weren't for the music and the reminders from my running app I would worry that I dropped it, that's how comfortable it is! I also thread my headphones under my shirt/jacket and up. This keeps them from bouncing around and if I take them off for a minute they don't fall to the ground.
-Versatile: I use this running mostly, but I've also used it while doing yard work to keep my phone close and listen to music.
-Storage: This little thing can fit a lot of stuff! Although it looks small when pulling it out of the box, my phone easily fits in it. I also fit my house key or key fob, an energy gel pack (or small bar) and my ID/ credit card. Read more

Great for any activity!

By Briana Dee on August 22, 2015

The problem I when I take my morning walks is that none of my comfy workout clothes have pockets. It's a good idea to bring at least your cell phone and keys with while walking in case of an emergency. I've been tucking them into the waistband of my fitness pants, but my keys usually fall out at least once on my walk. This fitness belt solved the problem! I just pull it on and put my keys and phone into it, flip it over, and I'm good to go. I think it's a lot more stylish than those old school "fanny packs" and it doesn't bounce around or chafe. I used the FunBelt when I was out running errands and I forgot I was even wearing it.

There were two openings to put your stuff in, and one had a keychain attached to it in case you're just bringing one key. I was surprised that my phone fit in the pocket- but it did! The openings were very flexible. I was able to fit my wallet, cell phone, and key ring in it without any problems, and I probably could have put an ipod/headphones in there too.

My only tip is to order one size larger than you normally would. I usually wear a medium/large (5'7" 150 lbs), but after checking out their sizing chart and measuring I decided on an XL just in case and was glad I did-it fit perfectly without being too snug or too wiggly. I don't wear an XL in anything else so I wouldn't

There's no way my IPhone is going in there...

By Ciaran TOP 500 REVIEWER on March 11, 2015

I was so skeptical when I pulled the FunBelt out of the box (supplied by the manufacturer as a review sample for an unbiased opinion) - I thought, there's no way I'm trusting that with my newly-acquired IPhone, and I'm bound to end up at home with my keys somewhere on the sidewalk a few kilometers back.

Oh boy, I was wrong. Both my girlfriend and I requested large belts, as recommended by the manufacturer. I wear a 33" waisted jeans, and she's pretty close to that too. The large fits perfectly - snug enough to not have to worry about it falling off, but not too tight as to be uncomfortable. The material/fabric seems to be of high quality, and the green color is (in my opinion) gender neutral. It's also brightly-colored, which is perfect since when I jog, it's early morning or in the evening.

Going back to my introduction, I was definitely skeptical about putting my Iphone and keys in this thing, but it's actually designed exceedingly well. Not only does the material have enough elasticity that by the time you fit your phone in, it closes back up to give a relatively safe enclosure, but you can then fold the whole thing over, meaning the opening is held even more securely closed by being pressed against your waist. With the opening, headphone cables are not a concern (I use bluetooth headphones, but still). On the other pocket is a loop for your keys - a mini carabiner will be an excellent addition to the FunBelt and I would highly suggest for the manufacturer to include one!

After several strong running sessions, I am absolutely pleased with the FunBelt. My phone has never given a hint of coming out of the belt, and my keys stay put (and don't bounce around due to the design and fabric used). This, coupled with the quality materials and manufacturing mean that I have no problem recommending this product. I look forward to seeing more colors come soon!

Easy to use and holds a lot of stuff.

By Spoiled Rott'n on August 31, 2015

Size: Small 25"-28" Color: Fluorescent Green

I am a curvy woman. Size 14 to be exact. This does fit when I put it on but because I am not a skinny person, this belt rolls. It is not flattering on my body at all so it makes me self conscious to wear. I love that there are no zippers or Velcro to keep this closed. By folding the belt over, you "lock" your items in place. I have an Iphone 6 plus and it fit easily inside. You have a lot of real estate in this belt. The entire length of the belt is one huge pocket. There is also a clip on a garter for attaching keys. Obviously if you're a school janitor and have 100 keys (I'm exaggerating) on your keychain, this won't work. But for clipping a house or car key will work just fine.

Unlike the photos on the box, I have to wear this under my clothes so you can't see the many "curves" of my figure. This belt cuts into the lumps and bumps. I don't recommend this for the heavier set folks because of the rolling this belt does on your body. If you have the belt loaded with a bunch of stuff, it won't roll as much because there are products inside to help it stay "wide" on your body. But if you're like me and only need to carry a key, phone, and a little money (for emergencies), then this may roll and scrunch up in the areas that have nothing inside.

I was provided a sample for my honest review.

Customer Questions & Answers

Have a question? Search for answers

1 vote	Question:	Would a passport fit in the pockets
	Answer:	Yes, a passport will fit in the pockets. Interestingly, it's best to put the belt on first and then push the passport inside. I actually just tried it because of your question, and with it just in my hand I thought "no way", but I slipped it on and that made the difference. By Gayle Schmidt on July 15, 2015

0 votes	Question:	does it move up and down when you are running? I have pretty wide hips and things that usually stay on my hips tend to move up and down while running

Snug and secure, my keys aren't going anywhere!

By Liz H on May 30, 2015

Size: Medium

I, like many runners, have always run while carrying my keys out of necessity. Sure, I could tuck them in that annoying inner shorts pocket and have them dig into my hip, but I'd always find myself focusing on gripping the keys, and not the relaxing run. I prefer to run with as little distraction as possible, so this belt is a home run for me. Now, not only do I not have to focus on holding on to my keys, I can also rest assured that they're clipped in to the key clip INSIDE this Running Belt, and they aren't going anywhere. This product has rugged construction of a thick stretchy (but not too stretchy that things move around) fabric with small slits on the inside where you can stash keys (there's a clip for them!), cash, a phone, or those little sugary carb packets for long-haul runners. The options are really endless when you think of this as a modern fanny pack. Use for festivals, days at theme parks, and anytime you need your hands free and valuables close. The belt is such that everything is very snug against the body (see size chart), so it doesn't show through as lumpy through clothing.
I would highly recommend this to anyone who does outdoor sport, hiking, really anything, as this is one of the most versatile accessories out there. I received this product to test for my honest opinion, and have been blown away by how well this belt works. Such a change to be able to relax my hands and focus on the run! Great Running Belt!

Runs small (no pun intended!)

Good quality- well made. But it runs small- and the space provided for storage is not large enough for my smart phone. Sent it back for a quick and easy return.

Because the Stealth Running Belt is so discreet, you can wear it to the mall or grocery shopping ...

By Debi @2014 & Beyond TOP 1000 REVIEWER on June 18, 2015

While I personally prefer my Running Buddy to any other running belt out there, I always try to stay aware of the other products out there that are available for runners to carry their things with them while running, and I'm always willing to give them a try. Today I'm going to share with you the Stealth belt. The Stealth belt is made for working out, cycling, running, jogging, yoga, rock climbing, traveling, hiking, working out or any other awesome outdoor activity, or even just for traveling. It's sleek and stylish (and really reminds me of a Flip Belt).

There are no buckles or zippers on this Stealth belt helping make it lighter for less bounce and maximum comfort. The phones listed by the manufacturer that will fit in the Stealth belt are: "Apple iPhone 5, iPhone 6, iPhone 6 Plus, Samsung Galaxy, Nokia, Android"..The Stealth belt ships to you with a free "bonus" drawstring carry-all pouch that you can keep the bag in when you are packing your running accessories for out of town races.

The Stealth belt is a simple design consisting of stretchy cloth designed to fit snugly around the waist with strategically placed cutouts in the fabric allowing you to store your items using the slits. A very simple idea that serves a great purpose. I once owned another fitness belt that had the same type of openings to insert your belongings into the belt, and unfortunately, one of my prized possessions fell out of one of the slits during a half marathon. (Please note: it was NOT this belt, but one very similarly made.)

I generally wear a size 12 to size 14, but because the largest size available was large, I selected that size (which is intended to fit sizes 10 to 12). Read more ›

Great Design

By Tiffypixie on June 2, 2015

This running belt allows you to carry your belongings with you around your waist with a low profile design. The biggest selling point for me is that you don't have any straps, hooks, buckles, zippers, velcro... ... none of it. The product is a really simple design. It's basically stretchy cloth designed in a way that it fits you snugly around the waist with strategically placed cutouts in the fabric that you can store your stuff in. It's so simple but ingenious.

First may I say that I wear a size 12 to a 14 and the largest size option they had was a Large which is meant for size 10 to 12. The fit is so snug that it rides up to my upper waist instead of around my hips where I'd imagined having it. For my size, an XL would have probably been best, but I am rolling with it. It does fit, just a little higher up.

The design has these cutouts in the fabric that you can slide your ID, money, snacks, phone, vitamins etc into. There is a little clip built into one of the pockets that you can secure your key to. My phone (BLU Studio Energy) fits great without the case, but my case is a rubbery material and won't go into the slot with the case on.

This is a great running belt and you can wear it just about anywhere you want to be hands free.
I received this product for free in exchange for my honest and unbiased review.

Great belt, good price.

By Bekktek on March 1, 2016

Size: X-Large Verified Purchase

This belt is great. I've ordered 4 so far. The XL in this particular brand fits snugly on a 34 inch waist -- I would say it's about a size too small. If you wear a large pant, you may want to buy an XL belt. I love how this works. I can cram all kinds of stuff in here! It has a clip inside that you can hook your key to, and I can fit my Note 5 in there securely! (I remove the case just so that the phone will slip in and out more easily.) I

The idea of this is pretty neat but it didn't meet my expectations. There isn't enough stretch to it, so it starts to rid up from my hips when I run. Read more

Product Description

The T4 Sport and Running Belt holds everything you need when you are on the go.

The T4 Sport and Travel Belt is perfect to store your iPhone and wallet content
- Step in, pull it up, load it, turn and ready to go
- Comfortable snug fit, no cramming, no bouncing
- Optimal space and width to carry your possessions
- High quality, super light and ultra-elastic Tech Poly-Spandex fabric

Tuck, turn, train and travel

Are you frustrated of bouncing fanny packs or not having enough space in your pockets that fits items during workout?

The Sport and Travel Belt solves this problem.
Get outside, break a sweat and still look fabulous. Bulky arm bands and baggy fanny bags are history. With the T4 Sport and Travel Belt, you can carry your essentials and move hands-free without worrying about your valuables. It suits all kinds of activities from dog walking, running, hiking and cycling without feeling uncomfortable. The belt is light so you would not even notice it wearing one.

The Waist Belt fits everyone and all cell phones. It is smooth you can even wear under your clothes. It is made of poly-spandex-blend that sleeks right on and sits snug on your hips. The 4 pocket pouch provides storage for your passport while traveling, cash, credit card for your shopping and big night out clubbing. Some customers with diabetes use the T4 to keep their insulin pump enclosed without struggling to keep the needle attached.

Try it today! If You Don't like it send it back! Friendly 30 DAYS MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!

Question: How do you zip it up? I don't see a zipper.
Answer: There's no zipper, which makes it much more comfortable against your body (no scratching of chafing). There are 4 pouches. You simply step into the belt inside-out, pull it up, put your stuff in the pouches, then flip it over. I hope that makes sense. I find it very comfortable - and no items have ever slipped out.

Question: Any advice about the size? I wear a size 4 but think I will order a medium anyway.
Answer: It depends on your application. If you need to have the T4 fit snug on you to prevent bouncing I would go for small. For shopping and walking so non high active activities I would go for medium. After wearing it a few times the belt becomes wider. I don't mean a lot but a bit so. Very comfortable belt. I work in a busy warehouse

By Jennifer Thompkins on March 26, 2015

Size: Large 32 Verified Purchase

Very comfortable belt. I work in a busy warehouse. So while I work I need my keys and phone to stay near me at all times. The belt makes that very easy to do. I wear pants without pockets to work in. I love it. People I work with always ask me where did I purchase it. It is so comfortable I forget that I am wearing it. Easy care. Just a great idea and a great way to keep your keys and phone with you.

Best activity belt ever - T4 Sport and Travel Belt

By Code on January 21, 2015

The purchase of the T4 belt is one of the best I have done for a long time. Finally, I can go for a run and bring along all my personal stuff like phone, keys and cash. Absolutely hands-free. Even the latest iPhone6 fits. I like the design too. It even reminds me to engage my core while excising. It is a snug fit but it has to be. Once I tuck all my belonging in, I flip it and lock all opening towards my body. So nothing can fall out. I have also used it to travel abroad. It feels good to have my passport and phone and credit card on me when I am flying overseas. I just don't like putting my bag in the overhead locker. The applications for this belt are endless. A friend of mine who introduced me to this belt uses the belt at work. She is a nurse at the local hospital. She says she never worries about losing her wedding ring anymore as she needs to take all jewellery off when being an air lock zone. Well, I can highly recommend getting one yourself. You won't regret it.

Thanks C4ward awesome product and excellent service 5 stars from me!

This belt is amazing! I cannot believe how much it holds -- and how comfortable it is!
Here's what I fit in mine: house key, 2 nitrile gloves and 2 plastic bags for dog clean up, and my iPhone 6 Plus -- yes, PLUS!
This fitness belt is very comfortable and extremely well made. A couple of mornings it has been cool enough to wear a hoodie, and the belt did not bulk up underneath.
Okay, I was not going to mention this, but it may be important to some of you. I was afraid the belt might create "Muffin Top" (in this case, belly fat hanging over the top), but that did not happen! The fit is nice and smooth, and it is easy to put on and take off (basically, you step in and pull up to put on and push down and step out to take off).
I want to make sure I include a note about the size. I wear a size 4 skirt/pants, in leggings and yoga pants, I wear an x-small. I bought the medium T4 Sports Belt, and it fits snugly, which is great for working out. If I were to buy another for leisure walks or travel, I would order a large.
I highly recommend this item to anyone considering buying a sports belt for running or any kind of fitness activity.

Order 1 or 2 sizes larger for a more comfortable fit

By Jk on April 30, 2016

Size: Large 32 Verified Purchase
I think I like it!

The material is made out of 85% polyester and 5% spandex, which is typical of workout clothing. The fabric was thick and I felt like the construction of the C4wrd T4 Belt was good. Stitching of the C4wrd T4 Belt was double lined nicely and the piping detail was a nice touch.

Length: 2.01 Mins

The item description says that there are four pockets. However, there are four nearly equidistant slots cut in the middle longitudinal design of one side of the belt, which is the front side. The flip side of the belt is solid and has a small size tag and the words written "TUCK, TURN, TRAIN, OR TRAVEL". The inside of the belt is completely hollow with the exception of where the sewing stops to form a barrier. So, the product doesn't actually have four separate individual pockets, but four slots or access points/ slots to a hollow "pocket", where you can maneuver your products to slide in various directions. I did like that one of the slots of the C4wrd T4 Belt had a clip to clip in my keys into.

I had the C4wrd T4 Belt on the whole day to do errands and shopping. I didn't want to carry a purse so I traveled with this on and stuffed the C4wrd T4 Belt with the following: iPhone 6 without my wallet case, cards, car remote key. My iPhone 6 wallet possibly could have fit in all the way but it got stuck in the middle and I didn't want to keep squishing it inside the belt. I drove with this belt on, sorted out various items while shopping with it on, took out my iPhone 6 multiple times to take text messages, and again to pay for items. I did pretty much all of this with ease. I did feel a little bit embarrassed for some reason that I had to keep reaching for items inside my stomach area. Read more › this is brilliant!!

By julz mcgaw on February 10, 2015

this is brilliant!!! I work in an operating theatre and i have one for work and one for home. I wear scrubs all day and now I do not have to deal with everything falling out of the pockets whenever I bend over. It fits everything in it and has a key holder for my swipe cards instead of having my swipe cards around my neck. It is tight and snug, I actually dont feel it. The home one means i dont have to take a handbag to the store so im hands free and dont leave my handbag on the trolley. LOVE IT!!!

Large fit like a small

By WhippetMom on March 25, 2016

I have very mixed reviews about this item and plan to upload a video showing what I mean. Upon opening, I was really excited about the "hand" of the material. Yeah, it's spandex but I guess it's nice to feel it on a practical accessory. Before trying to put it on, I was trying to figure out the "4" pockets. There is one continuous pocket all the way around, but there are 4 openings to access it. I put my iPhone 6 Plus (with Otter box) in there and it was a struggle, but a snug fit you need. From there, I didn't want to put more items in until it was on, but no way was this Large going to fit me! It says it fits a women's waist 32-

36" and sized for women's 10/12. My daughter is a size 4 and anyone bigger than her, I think, would really struggle getting it on! None of us could figure out the "turn and lock" instructions- it's more like "hold and pull". I like the idea, but it isn't sized appropriately.

better than flipbelt!!
By TamiKakes on May 28, 2015
Love love love this running belt. Very light weight and stays put, which I believe are the 2 biggest factors in choosing a running belt. There are no zippers or closures, but my galaxy note 4 fits securely inside and doesn't move around. Has one large "pocket" where the opening is sewn together in the middle for added protection. This is great for putting your phone in the one side and having your headphones come out the other. I only used it for a 2 mile quick run, but it stayed put, was light weight and I didn't even realize I had it on, just as good, if not better than a flipbelt. I received this product at a reduced rate for my honest and unbiased review

I love the concept of this but the execution falls short. The belt has opened up twice already and I have used it a handful of times. If my phone wasn't in a heavy duty case it would have likely broke. Most of my activity is hiking so I don't even have the jarring motion of running. I would question how it would do if you are a runner. I'm outside of the time-frame so I can't return it.

Hot and sweaty; phone falls out regularly

By Ann on October 23, 2015

Verified Purchase
I have to strap this pretty tight around my waist for it not to flop around; I can't wear it around my hips like the photo shows. It's wide all the way around, so it doesn't flip my phone like my other running belt, but it's hot to wear. Also, because the openings don't close all the way, the key clasp falls out its pocket and about 50% of the time my phone goes flying when I'm out for a run, unless I have the belt cinched so tight nothing can move. I appreciate this only because my phone doesn't flip up while I'm running. Otherwise, I prefer my other running belt.

It's a great active belt from FitFlux

By debbie on June 8, 2015

I gave this adjustable fitness storage running belt to my sister, she's a runner. She loves it. It's a great active belt from FitFlux . She has been walking more and working out to improve her health and this active belt really makes working out hands free a lot easier. It has several openings to insert your phone and personal items in. It even has a hook for your keys which I love love how it is adjustable and closes with Velcro so easy to open and close . The slots for the phone are a good size and I am able to put my IPhone 6 in it. I received this product for testing in exchange for my honest and unbiased opinion and this is solely mine.

Practical and Stylish!!!

By J Brown on January 2, 2015

This belt is very practical and stylish at the same time. Sometimes I forget to take it off after the workouts and wear it while I am running errands. Having small kids, you need as many empty hands as possible. I love the zipper pocket in the front, as it does secure my items better than the open pockets. The material is very nice and feels like good quality. It even blends in well with my lululemon activewear.

Great for running/walking while wearing yoga pants or shorts!

By Di Hickman on July 5, 2015

I got this belt as I recently upgraded to an iPhone 6 and my phone no longer fit in my old running belt. I'd been using an arm band but they can get a little sticky in the heat and as summer is here it was time to upgrade!
The belt is fully and easily adjustable to fit around your waist and very comfortable. The pack itself is one long pocket with two openings. I found I could easily fit in my iPhone 6, keys, and a couple of dog poop bags for when I took my dog with me. One side of the pack has a little elasticated security clasp for your keys so they won't bounce out. I honestly didn't discover this until about a week after I'd be using it. I never had an issue. My keys stayed put but this would be great if you had ONE or two loose keys.
I wore this belt with my running shorts, and with yoga pants when walking my dog and it worked great!

Length: 4.26 Mins

Definitely recommend! Two thumbs up. 5/5!

Disclosure: I received this product for free in exchange for a fair and honest review, all opinions are my own. If you have any questions please ask. I pride myself in my review, please leave feedback if you find this review useful. Thanks!

Adjustable and fits comfortably

By dani in hawaii on June 1, 2015

Verified Purchase

I am loving this belt and my workouts just got better. I do own one of those arm bands but the problem I had was where to put the car keys. I ordered this belt through a special deal to give it a try and share my honest and unbiased opinion. First of all I love how it is adjustable and closes with Velcro so easy on and easy off. I am a plus size (16) and does fit me well and comfortably and does not roll on my waist, sits perfectly. The slots for the phone are a good size and I am able to put my IPhone 6 in it with ease. Now my favorite part is the clasp clip where I can hang my car keys and place it inside the belt as well. This is the greatest idea and I absolutely like this item, to me superstar !

Fantastic for those with an insulin pump. Hides discreetly under your clothing. I just wish there were more color options. This item is part of my daily wardrobe. It is perfect for storing my insulin pump and CGM receiver

Love It!

too many slits

By vintod on February 2, 2016

Size: Large 32"-34" Color: Black Verified Purchase

Items will shift and slide in the pouch and eventually fly out of the other slits, especially something like a phone. Might be better for things like a subway card, license, credit card, etc. But I had to twist it up to prevent my phone from sliding out, and even that was a horrible work-around, as it would untwist from bouncing up and down while running. Perhaps if this had just 1 slit it would work better, but there are slits every 6 inches or so. I considered sewing them shut, but instead I went with a clip-on and zip-up belt. Haven't touched this one since.

Comfortable, and holds phones great.

By lyn on June 25, 2015

For starters the green is more of a florescent yellow. The belt itself is very comfortable, fit was true to size. It did strech, but not a whole lot. So, that's good to know. There is a little slot to insert your phone, keys etc. They don't move around, nor fall out. Which I really liked. My S4 fit in it just fine. I do wish the opening wasn't so seamless though, Im afraid the fabric might start threading after some use. Machine washes just fine with no color fading. It is quite bright best. thing. ever.

By Reba M. Tucker on June 26, 2015

I live right in front of a park and I love to go walking or running sometimes but I hate having to carry my cell phone and keys. I thought about getting one of those straps that goes around my arm for my phone but then I thought I might get a weird tan if I was outside for awhile. This also didn't solve my problem for storing my keys. I thought the price was a little steep for this but since I really wanted something I decided to give it a try. I totally love this flipbelt! All my things stay in place and it is very comfortable. I had read reviews about the sizing issues and I just followed the measurements on amazon. I ended up getting an x-small and it fits perfectly

Work Out band.

By ❤ Princess JA ❤ on August 25, 2015

Being a mother of two children, I workout when I can and it's usually on the run. This workout belt holds everything I need. I put my phone in and my earphones when I'm not using them. It's made of some sort of stretchy material. I love how smooth it feels against my skin. I don't have to worry about anything falling out or shifting while I'm working out. Another great part – Machine washable. Frankly when you workout you sweat – and sweat stinks. I'm glad I have something that I can wash. Also, if you are just running out and you don't have any pockets - this works great to wrap about you to carry your phone.

I received this belt at a discount for my honest review bought to replace purse while traveling

By Kati S. Wight on August 19, 2015

Size: X-Large Color: Black Verified Purchase

I'm usually a size 16-18 in woman's clothing. I bought the xl. This fits my waist, with a little extra room, it's not tight, and it has alot of stretch. The band fits my galaxy 3 with an otter box, keys, and wallet. Although it's heavy around my waist worth all the contents, it stays up because of my hips

Met my expectations

By Kaylin Voss on September 28, 2015

Size: Large Color: Black Verified Purchase

I used this as my purse for a 1000 mile motorcycle trip this weekend. It worked wonders. It fit my waist how I expected and held cash, cards, a pack of gum, Chapstick, and my phone with plenty more space for other things. I got the black one and the only complaint I have is that it turned my fingers blackish. I'll try soaking or washing it before the next use.

By Susan on November 11, 2015

Size: X-Small Color: Black Verified Purchase

Great belt, but it's NOT for wearing at the waist, hip only. I bought this one as it was advertised as wearable at waist or hip. I was doubtful, so I ordered an extra small just to be safe. Nope. It was much much too big, and I am about a 4 in standard sizing, not really an XS. Great belt if you're looking for a hip belt, but not if you want a waist belt.

It's OK. It's hard to find the openings. I feel the edge of the openings should have a slight edge of heavier material. I don't know why I thought I ordered the one with the zipper in the front. Overall I'm pleased. It's extremely useful

Nice quality for the price and basics running/walking. A few things could make it more versatile.
By ReginaSuydam on October 8, 2015

Size: Medium Color: Black Verified Purchase
Good fit does't move much. Great for a basic belt for walking and running. I think id prefer a thicker style. I'd also preffer to have a horizontal pocket for phone/ ipod it would be easier to answer phone or use headphones. A small zipper pouch for loose change would be nice as well. It would make it more versatile. It would nicer for shopping at the farmers market or to take to amusement parks/boardwalks/concerts where purses are an annoyance

By bweennumber1 on September 16, 2015

Size: Large Color: Black Verified Purchase
Fits my things but it doesn't stay on my hips. It comes up around my waist where it bounces and shifts because it doesn't fit snuggly. Maybe some rubber strips to hold it in place? Also, it loses its shape. When I tether my keys to the clip, they fall out of the hole and hang to the side, which drives me nuts. That can be avoided by flipping the belt around, but just a side note.

This is the biggest rip off I have ever purchase. It does not look anything like the picture. It is a cloth tube with little slits in it. I am surprised it received postive reviews
It is not worth the price. You could make the same thing for $2.00 or at the most $3.00.

By Regina & Jon on December 17, 2015

Size: X-Large Color: Black Verified Purchase
Great quality for the price I paid. I was really impressed by the quality of the material. I've been using it for a few weeks now and it still fits like the first time even from taking it off and on over and over. If you don't want to spend $30 or more on a Flipbelt, this is your hoyt grail. True to sizes. I got a small and I'm 5'3 125lbs, and it fit perfect on me. Great tool for going on runs! Armbands are so uncomfortable compared to this!!

The sizing is wrong. It has very little stretch. My GS5 doesn't fit so clearly nothing along the lines of an iPhone 6 plus would fit. I wore it twice and the seams started separating and coming apart. Definitely not worth the price.

Almost perfect

I love it. Use it when running or walking away from home to keep keys. I even took it kayaking to keep my id and some cash on my body. However i have a galaxy note 3 and it will not fit inside which is why I purchased it in the first place.

Worth it.

This is a nice belt, I bought a medium which fits snug (in a good way). The only problem I have with this is it doesn't fit my iPhone 6+. The slits are about 1-2 inches wide with hardly any give. Which is all on me, I thought the reviews had mentioned it fitting. I just took some scissors to one of the slits and it works like a charm. Went for a run yesterday and my phone stayed firmly in place.

Cheaper than a fitbit, but not better.

By Sandra Heinz on June 16, 2015

Size: Large Color: Black Verified Purchase

Not as helpful as I hoped. The pocket openings were too small for my phone, and I have a small phone. The whole belt could be wider. I have no idea how one would fit a large phone into this.
