INTERMARK FABRIC CORPORATION, Plaintiff,
vs.	Civil Action
MICROFIBRES, INC., Defendant.	No. 3:02 CV 1267

Deposition of WILLIAM LUCCHESI, JR., taken pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, at the law offices of Cantor Colburn LLP, 55 Griffin Road South, Bloomfield, Connecticut, before Jenny L. Albert, License #00207, a Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public in and for the State of Connecticut, on Thursday, July 24, 2003, at 9:51 a.m.

printers as opposed to piece dyers?

A. I really can't answer that question for many of our customers take the goods and process them in different ways unbeknownst to us.

Q. Are all of Intermark's flocked fabrics which use dark pigmented adhesives called Frosty currently?

A. Yes.

Q. And has that been --

A. Ah.

Q. Go ahead.

A. Let me answer that. Some customers require us -- internally, they are known as Frosty. Some customers require us to use their product name. At which point, the word "Frosty" would not be on their invoices or sales notes.

Q. And has all of the dark pigmented adhesive flocked fabric at Intermark been called Frosty since Flash was discontinued?

MR. CASS: Object to the form of the question.

A. I don't understand the question, very honestly. Rephrase it.

Q. Has Intermark ever designated dark pigmented adhesive flocked fabric by any name other than Frosty since the discontinuation of Flash?
