AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF CRIMINAL COMPLAINT AND ARREST WARRANT

I, Alexander Scanzera, being duly sworn, affirm and state:

INTRODUCTION

1. I am a Special Agent with the United States Secret Service (“USSS”) assigned to the Washington Field Office. I have been in this position since June 11, 2017 and have worked in law enforcement since June of 2013. I have completed the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center’s 12-week Criminal Investigation Training Program, as well as the 18-week USSS Special Agent Training Program follow-up academy. During this time, I received detailed training in both academic and practical application of investigative techniques involving counterfeiting, bank fraud, wire fraud, access device fraud, money laundering, identify theft, and other financial crimes. As a federal agent, I am authorized to investigate violations of laws of the United States, and as a law enforcement officer I am authorized to execute warrants issued under the authority of the United States.

2. I am assigned to this investigation and have participated in it since the case was initiated. My involvement has included interviewing victims and witnesses, and reviewing financial and other records provided to me by numerous financial institutions and other entities.

3. This affidavit is submitted for the purpose of establishing probable cause. The facts in this affidavit are based on my investigation, personal observations, training, and experience, as well as information conveyed to me by other law enforcement officials. Because this affidavit is limited in purpose, it is not intended to include each and every fact and matter observed by me or known to the United States.

PURPOSE OF AFFIDAVIT

4. This affidavit is submitted in support of a criminal complaint charging the defendant, ANDREW ROBERTSON (hereinafter “ROBERTSON”), with one count of Mail Fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1341. This affidavit is also submitted in support of an arrest warrant for ROBERTSON.

SUMMARY

1. Firm A is an international law firm with offices located throughout the United States, Asia, and Europe, including an office in Washington, D.C. and an office in Northern Virginia. The firm has over 1,000 lawyers who advise clients across a range of industries and practices. Within the law firm, there are also administrative assistants and managers who help maintain and support day-to-day operations and general office upkeep.

2. ROBERTSON was employed by Firm A as an office operations manager for Firm A’s Washington, D.C. and Northern Virginia offices from February 2017 through November 2018. ROBERTSON’s responsibilities included purchasing and approving purchase orders for new office supplies, renovations, and office catering. Firm A issued to ROBERTSON a firm Bank of America Purchasing Credit Card (hereinafter “P-card”) that he was instructed to use for purchases made for the law firm in connection with his law firm duties and responsibilities.

3. Beginning in or around April 2017, and continuing through October 2018, in the District of Columbia and elsewhere, ROBERTSON devised and intended to devise a scheme to defraud and to obtain money and property from Firm A by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises. As more fully described below, ROBERTSON used his firm-issued P-card to make over $400,000 in unauthorized personal purchases from retailers, unauthorized payments of personal expenses, and unauthorized payments to his own personal PayPal account. ROBERTSON attempted to cover up these unauthorized transactions by creating and submitting fraudulent invoices and accounting classifications to Firm A’s billing department to make it seem as though these expenditures were for legitimate law firm purposes, when, in fact, he knew that these expenditures were solely for his own personal benefit.

4. For the purpose of executing and attempting to execute the above-described scheme to defraud, ROBERTSON did knowingly cause to be delivered into the District of Columbia, by commercial interstate carrier, certain proceeds of this scheme. That is, ROBERTSON regularly used the Firm A P-card to make purchases from retailers of purely personal items that he arranged to be delivered to his personal residence, in the District of Columbia, via Federal Express (hereinafter “FedEx”), an interstate carrier. He caused one such delivery to be made on or about January 3, 2018.

PROBABLE CAUSE

5. ROBERTSON was hired by Firm A in early February 2017. Within a week of joining the firm, he was issued his Firm A Bank of America P-card. The terms and conditions of the P-Card, which were provided to ROBERTSON when he was issued the card, provided that users were only permitted to use the card to purchase items for law firm purposes. The terms and conditions specifically forbade use of the company card for personal purchases, stating in pertinent part: “The Bank of America Purchasing Card should be used for business-related purchases that are for the office or firm operations, such as payment for supplies or equipment, catering, business development events, attorney recruiting related expenses and fees.”

6. Despite these warnings, from approximately April 2017 through October 2018, ROBERTSON used his firm-issued P-card to make over $110,000 in personal purchases that he was not authorized to make with the firm P-card, including but not limited to:

- a. Approximately $90,000’s worth of items from the online retailer Amazon.com (hereinafter “Amazon”);
 - b. Over $12,000’s worth of home furnishings from the retailer Crate & Barrel;¹
 - c. A $1,279 media console from the retailer Williams & Sonoma;
 - d. Almost $5,000 in groceries over the course of about 36 orders through InstaCart, a website and application that enables users to place grocery delivery orders online;
- and

- e. Roughly $1,200 in groceries over the course of about ten orders through FreshDirect, a similar website and application that enables users to place grocery delivery orders online.

7. The very nature of most of these items (clothing, jewelry, home furnishings, a bed and bedding, groceries, etc.), suggest they were personal purchases. Additionally, based on receipts and records provided to law enforcement by the vendors listed in the preceding paragraph, all of the items listed in the preceding paragraph were shipped or delivered to ROBERTSON'S personal residences in Virginia and the District of Columbia. Finally, law enforcement has interviewed Firm A's Director of Administration, who verified that the firm would not normally purchase any of these items in its ordinary course of business.

8. ROBERTSON used his position as an office operations manager to approve fraudulent invoices that he created to cover up the personal nature of these expenditures. This investigation has determined that ROBERTSON sometimes copied and pasted lists of items purchased from receipts he truly received into templates of old invoices received by the firm from legitimate vendors for legitimate purchases. On other occasions, ROBERTSON would take an email receipt from a company like Amazon, and he would change the description of "items purchased" to sound like office supplies, and he would change the delivery address to the firm's address instead of his own personal address.² ROBERTSON would tend to classify these items on invoices and in Firm A accounting records as "office supplies" or "catering" expenses.

² Your affiant is drawing this conclusion by comparing the receipts and records provided by the vendors for these transactions with the invoices ROBERTSON submitted to Firm A. Those invoices were either provided to law enforcement by Firm A personnel or recovered from ROBERTSON's Firm A office.

9. ROBERTSON also used his firm-issued P-card to make unauthorized payments for his personal expenses. For example, ROBERTSON used the P-card to make over $45,000's worth of charges to pay for storage units for his own personal items. ROBERTSON claimed that these expenses were for the storage of Firm A office furniture; however, Firm A personnel have told law enforcement that the firm did not utilize these storage units. Similarly, ROBERTSON used the P-card to make over $5,000 in payments to Verizon for his personal Verizon bills. Firm A personnel have confirmed that ROBERTSON was not authorized to use law firm funds to pay his personal Verizon bills. ROBERTSON used fraudulent invoices and accounting codes to cover up the personal nature of these expenditures, as well.

10. Finally, between August 2017 and November 2018, ROBERTSON used the firm P-card to transfer nearly $275,000 to his own personal PayPal account. PayPal is a company based in San Jose, California, which operates a digital payments platform. Among other services, PayPal provides a way for users to make electronic financial payments and monetary transfers online. Using the PayPal website, ROBERTSON made almost 100 transactions where his Firm A P-card was charged for an amount that was then credited to his personal PayPal account (according to records from PayPal, the account user is listed as "Andrew Robertson" with ROBERTSON'S known date of birth, and almost immediately after each of these transactions charging the Firm A P-card to credit this PayPal account, an almost identical amount was transferred out of the PayPal account and into a personal Bank of America checking account in ROBERTSON'S name).

11. ROBERTSON attempted to cover up this portion of the fraud by once again creating false invoices and making false entries in accounting software. For these approximately $275,000 in transactions, ROBERTSON submitted invoices and accounting entries that suggested that these payments were for the firm's catering bills from Catering Company 1. In fact, records provided by Catering Company 1 to law enforcement show that the company provided services to Firm A on only about seven occasions from January 2017 through December 2018, for a total of about $12,000. To further try to conceal this scheme, PayPal records show, ROBERTSON changed the account information associated with his personal PayPal account to mimic the name and address of Catering Company 1.

12. As discussed above, in furtherance of this scheme to defraud Firm A, ROBERTSON knowingly caused to be delivered into the District of Columbia, by commercial interstate carriers, certain proceeds of this scheme. For example, on or about January 3, 2018, at approximately 4:32 p.m. Eastern Time, ROBERTSON placed an order on Amazon. Logging into the website under an account linked to his personal email account, ROBERTSON placed Amazon Order No. 113-8218989-6772248 for one pair of Prada Men's Khakis Stretch Straight Leg Jeans, size US 36 IT 52. The item cost $264.98, and ROBERTSON paid for the item using his Firm A P-card. Robertson directed Amazon to deliver the item to "Andrew Robertson" at an address that is known to be ROBERTSON'S personal residence in the District of Columbia. ROBERTSON selected a two-day shipping option. The item was delivered via "FedEx PTP Second Day" to ROBERTSON'S D.C. address.

13. Law enforcement obtained from Amazon the receipt for this purchase, which is consistent with the details listed in the previous paragraph. Law enforcement also obtained from Firm A a copy of the receipt ROBERTSON submitted to justify this expense. In the version submitted by ROBERTSON, the description of the "Items Ordered" has been altered to list "8 Monitor Holder[s]," and the shipping address has been altered to list "Andrew Robertson" at Firm

A's District of Columbia office address. The price of the item, the billing address, and the payment information are all identical to those listed on the authentic receipt from Amazon. However, the Amazon Order number on the receipt submitted by ROBERTSON has also been altered by two digits to 113-8218989-672211. Law enforcement obtained from Amazon a list of all purchases made by ROBERTSON using his Firm A P-card from May 2017 through November 2018, and that order number of 113-8218989-6772211 does not appear anywhere on that list.

14. ROBERTSON'S fraud scheme was first detected by Firm A in October 2018, during an internal firm audit. ROBERTSON was placed on administrative leave on November 20, 2018, pending further investigation. Afterwards, the Director of Administration and ROBERTSON'S direct supervisor at Firm A attempted to reach ROBERTSON by telephone. After several unsuccessful attempts, the firm relieved ROBERTSON of his duties and terminated him from his position on November 30, 2018 via official mail sent to his residence, which at the time was located in the District of Columbia. On or about December 17, 2018, Firm A's director of administration contacted law enforcement to report the fraud.

15. On or about July 1, 2019, law enforcement executed a search warrant on ROBERTSON'S known District of Columbia residence, in an effort to recover some of the items he fraudulently purchased using the Firm A P-card; however, the apartment was empty at the time. It appeared as though the occupant had recently moved.

CONCLUSION

16. Based on my training and experience, and the information provided in this affidavit, there is probable cause to believe that on or about January 3, 2018, in the District of Columbia and elsewhere, ANDREW ROBERTSON did knowingly and willingly commit mail fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1341.
