TRIBUNE MEDIA SERVICES, INC., Defendant.	)

MOTION FOR REASSIGNMENT

Plaintiffs TV Guide Online, Inc. and TV Guide Online, LLC ("TV Guide") move the Chief Judge of this Court for reassignment of this action to one of the Article III Judges of the District of Delaware. In support of this motion, TV Guide offers as follows:

1. This action was filed on October 12, 2005 and assigned to the Honorable Kent A. Jordan. As the Court is aware, on December 15, 2006 Judge Jordan became a member of the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. The case was then assigned to the Honorable Mary Pat Thynge for certain pretrial purposes. (D.I. 158). Shortly thereafter, TV Guide inquired as to whether Tribune would be agreeable to proceeding before Magistrate Judge Thynge for all purposes. Tribune declined. By letter dated August 16, 2007, TV Guide renewed its request that Tribune stipulate to the appointment of Magistrate Judge Thynge for all purposes including trial. Exhibit A hereto. Tribune again refused that request. Exhibit B hereto.[1]

2. While commentators have written about the judicial vacancy, there is no certainty as to when a nomination will be issued from the President nor when the Senate will act on the expected nomination. Because this action has been pending for almost two years and for the additional reasons stated below, TV Guide respectfully requests reassignment.

[1] TV Guide suggests the stated basis, that Tribune would not want the Magistrate Judge to try the case because she has participated in mediation, is of little concern since there will be a jury trial. The Magistrate Judge has expressed her willingness in other pending jury cases to handle them for all purposes because a jury will be the ultimate fact finder.

3. The parties have completed both fact and expert discovery. At this juncture, the main action that needs to be taken prior to trial is claim construction and case dispositive motions. The case is otherwise ready for trial.[2] Unless the case is reassigned and set for trial, TV Guide will have no immediate remedy for Tribune's infringement. Moreover, TV Guide (and presumably Tribune) will incur unnecessary fees and costs if the case is not reassigned. By way of example, experts have been deposed recently and are prepared to testify accordingly. If the case is not reassigned, and trial does not occur for another year or longer, the experts and attorneys will be required to reacquaint themselves with this matter.

4. Due to the passage of time, the uncertainty of when Judge Jordan's vacancy will be filled and the desire of TV Guide to resolve its case without further delay and costs, TV Guide respectfully requests the reassignment of this action to one of the three Article III Judges of the District of Delaware for all purposes including trial. A form of order is attached hereto.

[2] While the parties have engaged in mediation with Magistrate Thynge to no avail, the absence of a trial date ensures that further settlement discussions would be of no value at this time. As the Court is well-aware, the presence of a firm trial date is the best mechanism to assure that settlement discussions have been exhausted.
