1 THE COURT: Good morning. I would like to point out
2 that this hearing is being audio streamed nationally, so 3 whatever you say near your microphones will be picked up for 4 the world to hear, so you might want to be discreet in what 5 you have to say this morning with the microphones. Also, I 6 would ask that -- each of y'all should have some plastic bags.
7 As you leave the lectern, take the bag with you, and the next
8 person who comes up should put a new bag. You all have bags, 9 right? Okay. So that is what we are going to do. All right.

10 In this case, the Plaintiffs are a group of 11 disappointed Republican presidential electors. They assert 12 that the 2020 presidential election in Georgia was stolen, and 13 that the results, Joe Biden winning, occurred only because of 14 massive fraud. Plaintiffs contend that this massive fraud was 15 manifest primarily, but not exclusively, through the use of 16 ballot stuffing. And they allege that this ballot stuffing
17 has been rendered virtually invisible by computer software 18 created and run by foreign oligarchs and dictators from 19 Venezuela to China to Iran.

20 The defendants deny all of Plaintiffs' accusations.
21 They begin in their motions to dismiss by rhetorically asking
22 what a lot of people are thinking, why would Georgia's 23 Republican Governor and Republican Secretary of State, who 24 were avowed supporters of President Trump, conspire to throw 25 the election in favor of the Democratic candidate for

1 President.

2 We are going to turn now to the legal arguments. We 3 have several motions today, but primarily they are grouped 4 into two. First we have a motion to dismiss that has been 5 filed by the State Defendants, the original defendants in the 6 case, and then we have another motion to dismiss filed by the 7 Intervening Defendants in the case. The Plaintiffs of course 8 oppose both of these motions. They've been fully briefed, and 9 I have read everything that has been filed in this case by the 10 Plaintiffs and everything pertaining to these motions. If the 11 Defendants are not successful on those motions to dismiss, we 12 will proceed to hear argument on the substantive merits of the 13 complaint and the claims in the complaint. The way that time 14 is going to be -- well let me begin it this way. In their 15 legal arguments the Defendants contend that Plaintiffs lack 16 standing to bring this suit, which is pretty much what the 17 11th Circuit just held in Mr. Woods's own separate suit
18 against the State on Saturday. The Defendants further argue
19 that under Georgia law this kind of suit, one for election
20 fraud, should be filed in State Court, not Federal Court.
21 This too is what the 11th Circuit held in a separate but 22 similar case recently. And next, Defendants assert that 23 Plaintiffs waited too long to file this suit which seeks an 24 order decertifying the election results. The Secretary of 25 State has already certified the election result, and there is

1 no mechanism that the Court is aware of of decertifying it, 2 but that is that the Plaintiffs seek.

3 And finally, the law is pretty clear that a party
4 cannot obtain the extraordinary remedy of injunctive relief 5 unless he acts quickly. And Defendants contend that the 6 Plaintiffs have failed to do that, pointing out that all of 7 Plaintiffs' claims about the Dominion voting machines, the 8 ballot marking devices, could have been raised months ago, and 9 certainly prior to the November 3 election, and certainly 10 before Plaintiffs filed this suit over three weeks after the 11 election took place.

12 So these are the procedural arguments that the 13 Defendants are making today, or at least the main ones, I
14 believe. And then the question is, assuming the Plaintiffs 15 can survive these procedural hurdles, what is the relief that 16 they want? They want me to agree with their allegations of 17 massive fraud. And what do they want me to do about it? They 18 want me to enter injunctive relief, specifically the 19 extraordinary remedy of declaring that the winner of the 20 election in Georgia was Donald Trump and not Joe Biden. They 21 ask me to order the Governor and the Secretary of State to 22 undo what they have done, which is certify Joe Biden as the 23 election winner. We will get to those merits if the 24 Plaintiffs survive the motion to dismiss.

25 At this time we're going to begin with the motion to

1 dismiss, and the time allotment will be as follows: The State 2 Defendants have 20 minutes -- let me back up. Each side gets 3 30 minutes. The Plaintiffs get all 30 of their minutes, and 4 the Defendants' 30 minutes are divided among the two sets of 5 Defendants. The State Defendants -- the State Defendants get 6 20 minutes, and then the Intervening Defendants get 10
7 minutes, following which we will hear the Plaintiffs'
8 response. They have up to 30 minutes. And then whatever time
9 was saved in -- reserved for rebuttal, the State Defendants 10 and Intervening Defendants will then have.

11 But before we go forward, is there any way we can 12 stop this fuzzy sound that is coming through up here? I don't 13 know if it is coming through in the whole courtroom. I don't 14 think has anything to do with my microphone. (pause). All 15 right, is that better? I think it was the speaker, one of the 16 two speakers up here on the bench. I talk loud enough and I 17 think the lawyers talk loud enough that I can hear what they 18 are going to say. I don't need a microphone. So at this time 19 I will turn the matter over to the State Defendants.

20 MR. MILLER: Good morning, Your Honor. Carey Miller
21 on behalf of the State Defendants. I am joined today by Josh
22 Belinfante, Charlene McGowan, and Melanie Johnson. Mr.
23 Belinfante will be handling the motion to dismiss. I do want 24 to raise with the Court, to the extent that we get there, 25 State Defendants would like to renew their motion to alter the

1 TRO that is in place at this point. I understand that we can 2 address that in that section.

3 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, sir.

4 MR. BELINFANTE: I am not checking email, I am 5 trying to keep my time.

6 THE COURT: Okay.

7 MR. BELINFANTE: I would ask this. Would the Court
8 allow me to speak without the mask? Or do you prefer I keep 9 the mask on to speak?

10 THE COURT: I think I need to have everybody keep 11 the mask on.

12 MR. BELINFANTE: I'll be happy to do it. Good 13 morning, Your Honor. I think you have hit the nail on the 14 head in terms of what the issues are. This case simply does 15 not belong in this Court. The relief that Plaintiffs seek is, 16 as the Court described, extraordinary. It is to substitute by 17 judicial fiat the wishes of the Plaintiffs over presidential 18 election results that have been certified, that have been 19 audited, that have been looked over with a hand-marked count.
20 There is zero authority under the Federal law, under the 21 Constitution of the United States, or even under Georgia law 22 for such a remedy.

23 If the Plaintiffs wanted the relief they seek, they 24 are not without remedies. They could do what the campaign of 25 the President has done, which is file a challenge in Georgia

1 court under Georgia law challenging election irregularities.
2 There are three currently pending. I have with me two Rule 3 Nisi orders. One will proceed today at 3:30 in the Cobb 4 Superior Court sitting by designation. Another I believe is 5 Wednesday. And the President's, as I understand it, is to 6 proceed on Friday. That is where these claims should be 7 brought.

8 To the extent that the claims are about something
9 else, the Court need only look at what has happened in Georgia 10 since roughly 2019 and the passage of House Bill 316. It was 11 at that time that the Georgia legislature completely redid
12 Georgia election law. And there had been suit after suit
13 after suit, many of which brought by the Defendant
14 interveners, their allies, and others who question election 15 outcomes. And in every suit no relief has been ordered that 16 has been upheld by the 11th Circuit. In fact, no court has 17 ordered relief. And to the extent that two have, the Curling 18 case and the New Georgia Project case on discrete issues, the 19 11th Circuit stayed those because it concluded that there was 20 a strong likelihood of reversible error.

21 So what does this tell you? It tells you that 22 Georgia laws are constitutional, Georgia elections are 23 constitutional, and Georgia machines are constitutional. The 24 constitutional that the legislature has set forward is 25 constitutional. Now, that's where the Plaintiffs have backed

1 themselves into a corner from which they cannot escape. In 2 their reply brief, the claims, from the State's perspective, 3 got significantly crystallized. It became much clearer. And 4 they're relying heavily on Bush v. Gore. The problem is that 5 they are turning Bush v. Gore on its head.

6 In Bush v. Gore the challenge was that a Florida
7 Supreme Court decision was going to, as the Plaintiffs repeat 8 often, substitute its will for the legislative scheme for 9 appointing presidential elections. That is exactly what they 10 are asking this Court to do, substitute this Court for the 11 Florida Supreme Court, and you have Bush v. Gore all over 12 again. And that manifests itself in various different forms 13 that the Court has seen in our brief and the Court has already 14 identified. I will not go through all of them. I will try to 15 hit the high notes on some, but we will rely on our briefs.
16 We're not dropping or conceding arguments, but we will rely on 17 our briefs for those that I don't address expressly.

18 Let's talk briefly about what the complaint is, 19 because that has been I think significantly clarified with the 20 reply brief. One, the parties are presidential electors. And 21 they argue that that makes a significant difference. But what 22 are the acts of the State? Not Fulton County, not mullahs in 23 Iran, not dictators in Venezuela. What are the acts of the 24 State that are at issue? And it's in the discussion about 25 traceability and the Jacobson decision in the 11th Circuit

1 where that gets fleshed out really for the first time in the 2 reply brief, and there are three. And they tell you, and I
3 will keep coming back to it, on Page 20 of their reply brief.

4 The Plaintiffs, describing the State, say they 5 picked the Dominion system. Their policies led to de facto 6 abolition of the signature match requirement, their 7 regulations to permit early processing of absentee ballots is 8 unlawful and unconstitutional. Those are the three acts of 9 the State. Everything else is happening at a county level, 10 period. And from that they raise what appears to now be four 11 claims. One is the Elections and Electors Clause citing the 12 absentee ballot opening rule, I will refer to it as, the 13 settlement agreement. They raise equal protection claims
14 saying that the violation of the Election Clause has led to a 15 vote dilution and discrimination against Republican voters.
16 They argue that due process is violated because they have a 17 property interest in lawful elections, again, under the 18 Elections and Electors Clause. And finally, they raise a pure 19 State claim in Federal Court under a voter election challenge.

20 What is the relief they seek? The Court has 21 identified it. Why do they seek it? The Court is informed of 22 this on Page 25 of the reply brief. And it is -- if the Court
23 will not order a different result than what a certified 24 election has, they seek it through another means. They say on 25 Page 25 that allowing the electors to be chosen by the

1 legislature under the plenary power granted to them for this 2 purpose by the elections and election laws. One way or the 3 another, the relief they seek is judicial fiat, changing 4 certified election results. And to evaluate these claims the 5 Court does need to consider aspects of State law. And this is 6 where the problem lies. I am going to keep going until you 7 tell me to stop.

8 (noise from courtroom audio system).

9 THE COURT: I am sorry, Mr. Belinfante. I don't 10 know what the issue is. We just have to bear through it
11 unless or until somebody fixes it. I've got six kids. It 12 doesn't bother me.

13 MR. BELINFANTE: I have three, I understand. I also 14 have the loudest dog in America. In any case, to evaluate the 15 claims, you have to look at State law. And because the 16 Plaintiffs raise Code Section 21-2-522 and the statutes that 17 surround it, it's those cases that are important. It allows a 18 challenge based on these grounds - in fact some are pending 19 now - misconduct, fraud, irregularity, illegal votes, and 20 error are all grounds to challenge an election in Georgia.
21 All of these issues can be brought in in those cases. Those 22 election challenges have to be decided promptly under 23 21-2-525. And, and this is critical, the relief sought is not 24 to declare someone else a winner, it is to have another
25 election. This goes to the point that there is simply no

1 authority for the relief that they seek.

2 Turning first, with that factual predicate in mind,
3 to standing. There has been a fair amount of briefing on 4 whether the status as a presidential elector guarantees
5 standing. The 8th Circuit said yes, the 3rd Circuit said no.
6 And I think the 3rd Circuit's analysis is more persuasive.
7 And to the extent that the Plaintiffs say the 3rd Circuit did 8 not consider their status as an electorate, that is true, but 9 the electorate is not what gives you unique status, it's if 10 the electorate is a candidate. And that is expressly what the 11 3rd Circuit considered in the Bognet decision, and we would 12 suggest that that is the more persuasive one that we rely on 13 in our briefs.

14 But I do want to address two other aspects of 15 standing that are more particularized. One is that when they 16 are seeking to invalidate a State rule or a consent decree 17 that the State has entered into, or anything truly under the 18 Elections Clause, the Bognet case speaks to this as well. And 19 it says that because Plaintiffs are not the General Assembly, 20 nor do they bear any conceivable relationship to the State 21 law-making process, they lack standing to sue over the alleged 22 usurpation of the General Assembly's rights under the 23 Elections and Electors Clauses. That is absolutely true here.
24 The Wood court, the 11th Circuit Wood opinion, says the same, 25 citing Walker, because Federal Courts are not constituted as

1 freewheeling enforcers of the Constitution and laws. And that 2 is the injury that underlies all of their claims, which is why 3 they lack standing.

4 I am not going to get into traceability as much
5 because I think the most useful aspect of the traceability 6 issue is the crystallizing of Plaintiffs' complaints, and as 7 I've indicated, the isolating of the State acts in particular.

8 On sovereign immunity, I only want to highlight that 9 a decision just came out in Michigan seeking very similar 10 relief. We will get you the cite. It is Michigan -- it is 11 against Whitmer, King versus Whitmer, in the Eastern District 12 of Michigan. Walks through all of the issues in this case and 13 rejects the claims, denies the relief. On sovereign immunity 14 they raise the point that under Young, you can only get 15 prospective injunctive relief. That is not decertification, 16 that is a retrospective. And so sovereign immunity would bar 17 that. They do seek to prevent the Governor from mailing the 18 results; that can be prospective, but there is just no relief
19 for it. So that is all I will say on sovereign immunity.

20 On laches, the Michigan Court also joined in with 21 Judge Grimberg on laches in the Wood case and said that there 22 is time that is inexcusable. The Court is well-aware of the 23 elements, was there a delay, was it not excusable, and did the 24 delay cause undue prejudice. Judge Grimberg has already 25 looked at this argument in the context of the Wood case and

1 the challenge to the consent order and said laches applied.
2 And it does here for all of the Plaintiffs' arguments, and all
3 you need to do, again, is go back to that Page 20 and see why.
4 They say that their policies, the State's policies, led to a 5 de facto abolition of the signature requirement. The 6 complaint at Paragraph 58 acknowledges in Exhibit A that that 7 happened in March of this year. There has been plenty of time 8 that they thought the Secretary overstepped his bounds to 9 bring a challenge in that case or to bring a challenge even 10 afterwards, challenge the OEB. They did not.

11 They say on Page 20 that they, the State, picked the 12 Dominion system. They tell you on Paragraph 12 that happened 13 in 2019. There has been significant litigation over the 14 Dominion system. Nothing has been held in order that the 15 Dominion system is unconstitutional, is flawed, or anything 16 else that has stuck.

17 Third, they said that their regulation, the absentee 18 ballot regulation, permitted absentee ballots as unlawful and 19 unconstitutional. They tell you in Paragraph 60 that happened 20 in April of 2020. Georgia law, in the Administrative 21 Procedures Act, specifically allows you to challenge rules, 22 50-13-10. That wasn't done. They certainly could have. And 23 you don't need the fraud, as they allege, to happen first, 24 because their argument is not based on the fraud, it is based 25 on usurpation of power by the Executive Branch. That can be

1 challenged when the rule has been promulgated, when the order
2 is out, and when the Dominion machines were selected.

3 We raise in our brief several forms of abstention.
4 And truly, Your Honor, they all kind of get to the same place
5 under different theories. And again, the reply brief made 6 this point to the clearest. I think at the end of the day, 7 while we will rely on our briefs in terms of why those matter,
8 and the Michigan court found that Colorado River abstention
9 should apply, there are parallel proceedings in State Court --

10 THE COURT: Did they even argue why it shouldn't?

11 MR. BELINFANTE: They argued that in voting rights 12 cases the 11th Circuit does not typically abstain. And those 13 cases are slightly different. They are challenging an 14 underlying statute, for the most part. Siegel is a slightly
15 -- it's a different case. But they are mostly challenging
16 underlying statutes. And there is not a pending election 17 challenge on the same thing in State Court. It's like the 18 other cases that we have seen that we've defended since the 19 gubernatorial election in 2018. So no, I don't think so. But 20 I think the Bush v. Gore analysis is the one that is most 21 critical, and it is that simply the Secretary -- the 22 legislative scheme for electing presidential electors is set
23 forth in the Code in Title 21, it has a means of challenging 24 fraudulent illegal votes, it has a means of allowing the 25 Secretary to address various issues, the State Election Board

1 to pass regulations. All of that authority has been delegated 2 by, first, Congress to the Georgia Legislature, and then to 3 the Executive Branch. That is the scheme that is put in 4 place, and that is exactly what they seek to turn on its head.
5 And what the three justice concurrence on which they rely 6 says, makes that impossible. Because the Supreme Court said 7 at Page 120, for the Court, in that case the Florida Court, to 8 step away from this established practice prescribed by the 9 Secretary, the State official charged by the Legislature with 10 the responsibility to obtain and maintain uniformity in the 11 application, operation, and interpretation of election laws
12 was to depart from the legislative scheme.

13 Read the proposed order. That is exactly what the 14 Plaintiffs seek here, and that is exactly what their own 15 authority says the Court cannot issue in terms of relief, and 16 that would actually trump the remaining claims because it
17 would violate the Elections Clause in order to arguably save 18 some other vague right in terms of due process.

19 Turning to that, let me talk briefly about the 20 absentee ballot regulation, the return of the ballots. There 21 is nothing that is inconsistent with that, number one, because 22 if you look in the Election Code, there are five times that 23 the General Assembly said something cannot occur earlier than 24 X date. This doesn't say that. This says beginning on this 25 date they can do this, but it doesn't say it can only happen.

1 And the five times elsewhere in the Code would suggest that 2 the legislature knew how to change it if they wanted. That is 3 121-2-132, 133, 153, 187, and 384. They are simply reading 4 the regulation to create the conflict, when every piece of 5 Federal and State law says you should read it to avoid the 6 conflict. In terms of the settlement agreement itself, I
7 think Judge Grimberg has sufficiently analyzed that. And it 8 fills the gap. There is no conflict. They can't point to any 9 language that it does. And at the end of the day it is an 10 OEB, an Official Election Bulletin, not a statute and not a 11 regulation of the State Election Board anyway.

12 On the Dominion machines, I think we will rely on -- 13 Mr. Miller is going to talk about that a good deal, but also 14 they argue that the audit somehow doesn't save it because of 15 Prohm and that we are estopped from raising Prohm. There are 16 two problems with that. One, estoppel doesn't apply. There 17 has been no final order. They're not estopped from doing
18 anything. That's the Community State Bank vs. Strong decision 19 from the 11th Circuit applying Georgia law 2011. And two, 20 there has not been an order in Curling saying that the 21 machines are unconstitutional. There have been nine 22 preliminary injunctions filed, no standard relief, and it 23 ignores -- the entire premise of the argument ignores that 24 when a voter gets a ballot from the machine they can read who 25 they voted for. And when the hand count took place, they

1 didn't scan it back in, they looked at what the ballot said
2 and who they voted for and that is why things were put in 3 different boxes. Their own affidavits talk about that 4 provision of separating the boxes by hand. It resolves the 5 issue.

6 The remaining theories fail -- again, I want to be 7 cognizant of time and save some time for rebuttal. We rely on 8 our briefs in terms of the merits of those, but the equal
9 protection and due process allegations I think are addressed 10 in Wood from the 11th Circuit. On procedural due process, to 11 the extent that that is the due process claim, they don't 12 challenge the Georgia election means of correcting as somehow 13 invalid or insufficient. In fact, they raised it. And so you 14 can't have a procedural due process claim if you have a 15 remedy. You can't have a substantive due process claim if it 16 doesn't shock the conscience, which having to use the remedy 17 here, they can do. Your Honor, with that, unless there are 18 questions, I would will reserve the rest of my time for 19 rebuttal.

20 THE COURT: Thank you, sir.

21 MS. CALLAIS: Good morning, Your Honor. I am Amanda 22 Callais on behalf of Intervenor Defendants, the Democratic 23 Party of Georgia, the DSCC and the DCCC, and I am mindful of 24 many of the points Mr. Belinfante just made, and I will not 25 repeat them, but for the record, Your Honor, I would just like

1 to say that for the statements that we've made in our motion
2 to dismiss, this case should be dismissed. The Plaintiffs in 3 this case lack standing. They bring their claims and assert
4 only generalized grievances. This Court also lacks
5 jurisdiction to hear their claims because this case is moot 6 now that the election has been certified, which is what the 7 11th Circuit found just this past Saturday in the Wood v.
8 Raffensperger case. And then Plaintiffs have also failed to 9 state any cognizable claim under the Election and Elections
10 Clause, Equal Protection Clause, and Due Process Clause.

11 Where I would like to begin though is where 12 Mr. Belinfante started, and I would like to bring us back to 13 this point about where we are in terms of Georgia elections
14 and with the remedy asked for in this case. Over a month ago
15 five million Georgians cast their ballots in the 2020
16 presidential election with the majority of them choosing 17 Joseph R. Biden, Jr. as their next President. Those votes, 18 both the ballots that were cast on Dominion machines and the 19 ballots that were cast by absentee were counted. Almost 20 immediately after that count took place, those votes were 21 counted again by hand, and then almost immediately after that 22 count finished, the recount began again, a third time, by 23 machine. Each and every one of those counts has confirmed 24 Georgia voters' choice. Joe Biden should be the next 25 President of The United States. At this point there is simply

1 no question that Joe Biden won Georgia's presidential election
2 and with it all of Georgia's 16 electoral votes. Despite 3 that, Plaintiffs have come to this Court eight months after a
4 settlement agreement they challenged was entered, three weeks 5 after the election is over, and days after certification took 6 place, and they asked this Court to take back that choice, to 7 set aside the choice that Georgia voters have made, and to 8 choose the next president by decertifying the 2020 9 presidential election results and ordering the governor to 10 appoint a new slate of electors.

11 THE COURT: Speaking of taking back, how do the 12 Intervening Defendants respond to the Plaintiffs' point in 13 their complaint that many people, including Stacey Abrams,
14 affiliated with the Democratic Party, opposed these machines 15 from the beginning and said that they are rife with the 16 possibility of fraud?

17 MS. CALLAIS: I think, Your Honor, that the key 18 there is that when we talk about a possibility of fraud, that 19 does not mean that fraud has actually occurred. And here
20 Plaintiffs come after an election has taken place and they say
21 on very -- as we will talk about if we get to the TRO
22 portion -- on very limited specious evidence that there is a 23 possibility of fraud. A possibility of fraud does not mean 24 that fraud has actually occurred. And truthfully, Your Honor, 25 that is what the Plaintiffs would need to show to get some

1 sort of -- the relief that they are requesting here, that 2 there has been actual fraud. And that is just not in their 3 complaint, it is not in their evidence. It makes no 4 difference whether there has been a possibility of fraud or 5 issues with the machines. That is a case that is in front of 6 Judge Totenberg and that she is deciding. But that is not the 7 evidence that they have presented here, and it certainly does 8 not support their claims.

9 So with that, Your Honor, as the 3rd Circuit 10 explained just a little over a week ago when denying an 11 emergency motion to stop certification in a case similar to 12 this one brought by Donald J. Trump's campaign, voters not 13 lawyers choose the President. Ballots not briefs decide 14 elections. Plaintiffs' request for sweeping relief in this 15 case is unprecedented. It is unprecedented anywhere, and it
16 is particularly unprecedented in Georgia where the ballots 17 have been counted not once, not twice, but three times, and 18 the vote has been confirmed. Their request for relief is not 19 just unprecedented, but also provides a separate and 20 independent grounds for this Court to dismiss this case.

21 As we explained in our motion to dismiss, granting 22 Plaintiffs' remedy in and of itself would require the Court to 23 disenfranchise over 5 million Georgia voters, violating their 24 constitutional right to vote. Post-election
25 disenfranchisement has consistently been found to be a

1 violation of the Due Process Clause throughout the courts.
2 For example, in Griffin v. Burns the 1st Circuit found that 3 throwing out absentee votes post election that voters believed 4 has been lawfully cast would violate the Due Process Clause.
5 Similarly, in Marks v. Stinson, a number of years later, the 6 3rd Circuit found the same thing in their finding where they 7 found even if there is actual evidence of fraud, discarding 8 ballots that were legally cast or that voters believed to be 9 legally cast violates the Due Process Clause and is a drastic 10 remedy. This is precisely what would happen here if this 11 Court were to order the requested relief. That order would 12 violate the Due Process Clause. And because of that, this 13 Court cannot grant the remedy that Plaintiffs seek and the 14 Court should dismiss this suit.

15 In finding that the Court can't grant this relief, 16 this Court would not be alone, it would be in actually quite 17 good company, not just from the 1st Circuit and the 3rd 18 Circuit in Griffin and Stinson, but also from more recent 19 cases. In 2016 in Stein v. Cortes, the District Court 20 declined to grant Jill Stein's request to a recount because, 21 quote, it would well insure that no Pennsylvania vote counts,
22 which would be outrageous and unnecessary. Just this cycle,
23 in Donald J. Trump for President v. Boockvar the Plaintiffs 24 sought to invalidate 7 million mail ballots under the Equal 25 Protection Clause, and the Court explained that it has been

1 unable to find any case in which a plaintiff has sought such 2 drastic remedy in the contest of an election in terms or the 3 sheer volume of votes asked to be invalidated. The Court also 4 promptly dismissed there.

5 Just this last Friday in Law v. Whitmer in Nevada
6 State Court, which actually would have the ability to hear a 7 contest, found that it would not decertify the election in 8 Nevada. And the list goes on, Your Honor. We could talk
9 about findings in State Court in Arizona on Friday. There 10 have been over 30 challenges to this election that have been 11 repeatedly dismissed since -- basically since election day.
12 Since election day.

13 So the Court is in good company, and it's not just 14 in company good company nationwide, but it is in good company 15 with the judge right down the hall from here who, just two 16 weeks ago, in a case nearly identical to this one, found a 17 request to disenfranchise nearly 1 million absentee voters in 18 Georgia to be extraordinary. Judge Grimberg explained that to 19 prevent Georgia certification of the votes cast in the general 20 election after millions of people have lawfully cast their 21 ballots, to interfere with the results of an election that has 22 already concluded would be unprecedented and harm the public 23 and in countless ways. Granting injunctive relief here would 24 breed confusion, undermine the public's trust in the election, 25 and potentially disenfranchise over 1 million Georgia voters.

1 Viewed in comparison to the lack of any demonstrable harm,
2 this Court finds no basis in fact or law to grant Plaintiff 3 the relief he seeks.

4 That same reasoning applies here. And in fact, it 5 applies here even more because most of the claims that were 6 brought in front of Judge Grimberg are the same, but the 7 amount of votes that Plaintiffs here seek to decertify are far 8 greater in scope.

9 On this last point, Your Honor, about the inability 10 of the Court to order the remedy, I wanted to respond to 11 something that Plaintiffs raised in their brief last night.
12 In their brief last night they react to the briefing on 13 mootness that we included in our TRO and note that this 14 Court -- this case would not be moot because the Court can 15 decertify an election. And that Wood v. Raffensperger that 16 came out by the 11th Circuit didn't discuss decertification of 17 the election, only halting certification.

18 And I would just like to point out that if this 19 Court were to decertify the election and specifically to point 20 a new slate of electors, which is what is asked, that in and 21 of itself would also violate the law. The U.S. Constitution 22 empowers State Legislatures to choose the manner of appointing 23 presidential electors, and that is the Electors Clause that 24 Plaintiffs actually challenge. And pursuant to that clause, 25 the Georgia General Assembly has chosen to appoint electors

1 according to popular vote. Those are certified by the 2 governor through certificate of ascertainment. That popular
3 vote has already taken place, Your Honor, and if this Court 4 were to order a new slate of electors to be appointed, that 5 would -- that would violate the Electors Clause.

6 In addition, Congress has also provided that 7 electors shall be appointed in each and every state on the 8 Tuesday next after the first Monday in November in every 4th
9 year as also known as Election Day, which this year took place
10 on November 3rd. Georgia has held that election on Election
11 Day, and if this Court were to now, months after the -- over a 12 month after the election, to go and order that a new slate be 13 appointed, it would be violating that statute as well. So for 14 the very reasons that the Plaintiffs -- the very relief that 15 Plaintiffs ask is actually what prevents this Court from 16 issuing any relief in this case, and precisely why it should 17 be dismissed.

18 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. All right, I 19 will hear from the Plaintiffs.

20 MS. POWELL: May it please the Court. Sidney Powell
21 and Harry MacDougald for the Plaintiffs. We are here on a 22 motion to dismiss which requires the Court to view the 23 pleadings and all the facts alleged in the light most 24 favorable to the Plaintiff. In my multiple decades of 25 practice I have never seen a more specifically pled complaint

1 of fraud, and replete with evidence of it, both mathematical, 2 statistical, computer, expert, testimonial, video, and 3 multiple other means that show abject fraud committed 4 throughout the State of Georgia.

5 Forget that this machine and its systems originated
6 in Venezuela to ensure the election of Hugo Chavez and that it 7 was designed for that purpose. Look just at what happened in 8 Georgia. Let's start, for example, with the language, "the 9 insularity of the Defendants' and Dominion's stance here in 10 evaluation and management of the security and vulnerability of 11 the system does not benefit the public or citizens' confident 12 exercise of the franchise. The stealth vote alteration or 13 operational interference risk posed by malware that can be 14 effectively invisible to detection, whether intentionally 15 seeded or not, are high once implanted, if equipment and 16 software systems are not properly protected, implemented, and 17 audited. The modality of the system's capacity to deprive 18 voters of their cast votes without burden, long wait times, 19 and insecurity regarding how their votes are actually cast and 20 recorded in the unverified QR code makes the potential 21 constitutional deprivation less transparently visible as well; 22 at least until any portions of the system implode because of 23 system breach, breakdown, or crashes" -- all of which the 24 State of Georgia experienced -- "the operational shortcuts now 25 in setting up or running election equipment or software

1 creates other risks that can adversely impact the voting
2 process."

3 THE COURT: You don't have to get into any of the 4 evidence or any of the statements or averments of the 5 complaint because I have read it. And all these statements, I 6 am assuming that every word of it is true. My question -- the 7 first question I have for you, for the Plaintiffs in the case, 8 is why -- first of all, whether you can or cannot pursue these 9 claims in State Court, specifically in Georgia Superior 10 Courts. Just the question is, can you?

11 MS. POWELL: No, Your Honor, we can't. These are 12 exclusively Federal claims with the exception of the election
13 contest allegation. They are predominantly Federal claims, 14 they are brought in Federal Court for that purpose. We have a 15 constitutional right to be here under the Election and 16 Electors Clause. I was not reading evidence. What I was 17 reading to the Court was the opinion of Judge Totenberg that 18 was just issued on 10-11-20 which defeats any allegation of 19 laches or lack of concern over the voting machines. This has 20 been apparent to everyone who has looked at these machines or 21 discussed them in any meaningful way or examined them in any 22 meaningful way, beginning with Carolyn Maloney, a Democratic 23 Representative to Congress back in 2006 who objected to them 24 being approved by CFIUS. Judge Totenberg went on to say that 25 "the Plaintiffs' national cybersecurity experts convincingly

1 present evidence that it's not a question of might this 2 actually ever happen but, quote, when will it happen, 3 especially if further protective measures are not taken.
4 Given the masking nature of malware in the current systems 5 described here, if the State and Dominion simply stand by and 6 say we have never seen it, the future does not bode well."
7 And sure enough, exactly the fears articulated in her 147 page 8 opinion, and all the means and mechanisms and problems
9 discussed in that three day hearing she held have now 10 manifested themselves within the State of Georgia in the most 11 extreme way possible.

12 THE COURT: She did not address the question before 13 the Court today though as to the propriety of bringing this 14 suit in this Court, did she?

15 MS. POWELL: There is no other place to bring this 16 suit of Federal Equal Protection claims and the electors.

17 THE COURT: You couldn't bring all of these claims 18 in State Court? Is that your position?

19 MS. POWELL: We are entitled to bring these claims
20 in Federal Court, Your Honor. They are Federal constitutional 21 claims.

22 THE COURT: What do you do with the 11th Circuit's
23 holding in Wood on Saturday that we cannot turn back the clock 24 and create a world in which the 2020 election results are not 25 certified?

1 MS. POWELL: Actually we can, but we don't need to 2 because we are asking the Court to decertify.

3 THE COURT: Where does that exist?

4 MS. POWELL: Bush v. Gore. Bush v. Gore was a 5 decertification case. There are other cases we've cited in 6 our brief that allow the Court the decertify. And at the very 7 minimum this Court should order a preliminary injunction to 8 allow discovery and allow us to examine the forensics of the 9 machines. For example, we know that already in Ware County, 10 which is a very small precinct, there were 37 votes that were 11 admittedly flipped by the machines from Mr. Trump to 12 Mr. Biden. That is a 74 vote swing. That equates to 13 approximately the algorithm, our experts also believe, was run 14 across the State that weighed Biden votes more heavily than it 15 did Trump votes. That is a systemic indication of fraud that 16 Judge Totenberg was expressing concern about in her decision
17 just weeks before the election. We have witness after witness 18 who have explained how the fraud can occur within the 19 machines. We know for example that there were crashes, just 20 like she feared in the decision, and everybody expressed 21 concern about. We know machines were connected to the 22 internet which is a violation of their certification
23 requirements and Federal law itself. We could not have acted 24 more quickly. In fact, the certification issue wasn't even 25 ripe until it was actually certified.

1 THE COURT: But you weren't limited in your remedies
2 to attacking the certification, you could have attacked the 3 machines months ago.

4 MS. POWELL: That is what happened in the Totenberg
5 decision, and that is why I read it to the Court. The 6 machines were attacked by parties, and the election was 7 allowed to go forward. And we have come forward with our 8 claims as fast as is humanly possible. This is a massive 9 case, and of great concern not just to the nation and to 10 Georgia, but to the entire world, because it is imperative 11 that we have a voting system that people can trust.

12 They talk about disenfranchising voters, well there 13 are over a million voters here in Georgia that will be 14 disenfranchised by the counting of illegal ballots that render 15 theirs useless. It's every legal vote that must be counted.
16 Here we have scads of evidence. And the vote count here is 17 narrow. I mean, the disparity now is just a little over 18 10,000 votes. Just any one of our categories of that we have 19 identified require decertification. For example, 20,311
20 nonresidents voted illegally. Between 16,000 and 22,000 21 unrequested absentee ballots were sent in in violation of the 22 legislative scheme. Between 21,000 and 38,000 absentee 23 ballots were returned by voters but never counted. 32,347
24 votes in Fulton County were identified to be statistically 25 anomalous. And the vote spike for Mr. Biden, that is

1 completely a mathematical impossibility, according to multiple 2 expert affidavits we provided, shows that it was like 120,000
3 Biden votes all of a sudden magically appear after midnight on 4 election night. That happens to coincide with the time we 5 have video of the Fulton County election workers running the 6 same stack of rather pristine-looking ballots through the 7 machine multiple times. And as for the recounts, that makes 8 no difference because if you recount the same fake ballots, 9 you achieve -- in the same machines, you achieve the same 10 results. That is why the hand count in Ware County that 11 revealed the 74 swing is so important and indicative of the 12 systemic machine fraud that our experts have identified, and 13 why it is so important that we at least get access for the 14 Department of Defense even, or our own experts, or jointly, to 15 examine the machines in Fulton County and the ten counties
16 that we requested in our protective order, or our motion 17 for --

18 THE COURT: How is this whole case not moot from the 19 standpoint of even if you were to win, and win Georgia, could 20 Mr. Trump win the election?

21 MS. POWELL: Well fraud, Your Honor, can't be 22 allowed by a Court of Law to stand --

23 THE COURT: That is not what I am asking. I am not 24 saying that there may not be other issues that need to be 25 addressed, and that there might not be questions that need to

1 be investigated, I am asking, as a practical matter, in this 2 particular election, can Mr. Trump even win the election even 3 if he wins Georgia?

4 MS. POWELL: Yes, he can win the election.

5 THE COURT: How would that happen?

6 MS. POWELL: Because there are other states that are 7 still in litigation that have even more serious fraud than we 8 have in Georgia. It is nowhere near over. And it doesn't 9 affect just the presidential election. This fraud affects 10 senate seats, congressional seats, gubernatorial seats, it 11 affects even local elections. Another huge statistic that is 12 enough by itself to change the result is the at least 96,000 13 absentee ballots that were voted but are not reflected as 14 being returned. All of these instances are violations of 15 Federal law, as well as Georgia law. And in addition,
16 Mr. Ramsland's report finds that the ballot marking machine 17 appears to have abnormally influenced election results and 18 fraudulently and erroneously attributed between thirteen 19 thousand seven hundred and twenty-five thousand and the 20 136,908 votes to Mr. Biden just in Georgia. We have multiple 21 witnesses who just saw masses of pristine ballots appearing to 22 be computer marked, not hand marked, and those were repeatedly 23 run through machines until votes were injected in the system
24 that night without being observed by lawfully required 25 observers in violation of Georgia and Federal law that

1 resulted in the mass shoot-up spike of votes for Mr. Biden.
2 Mr. Favorito's affidavit is particularly important. He talks
3 about the Ware County Waycross City Commission candidate who 4 reported that the Ware County hand audit is flipped those 74
5 votes. That is a statistically significant swing for a 6 precinct that small, and there is no explaining for it other 7 than the machine did it. We have testimony of witnesses who 8 saw that their vote did not come out the same way it was.
9 Mr. Favorito is a computer tech expert. He said that the vote
10 flipping malware was resident on the county election 11 management system of possibly one or more precinct or 12 scanners. There was also an instance where it came out of the 13 Arlo system changed, and there was no way to verify the votes 14 coming out of the individual precincts versus coming out of 15 Arlo because apparently they didn't keep the individual
16 results so that they can be compared. So there was a vote 17 swapping incident through the Arlo process also.

18 There was a misalignment of results, according to 19 Mr. Favorito, among all three presidential candidates. Rather 20 than just a swapping of the results for two candidates, in 21 other words, they would sometimes put votes into a third-party
22 candidate and take those out and put them in Mr. Biden's pile.
23 The system itself according to its own technological handbook 24 explains that it allows for votes to be put in, it can scan to 25 set or overlook anything it wants to overlook, put those in an

1 adjudication pile, and then in the adjudication process, which 2 apparently was conducted in top secret at the English Street 3 warehouse, where all kinds of strange things were going on,
4 were just thrown out. They could just literally drag and drop 5 thousands of votes and throw them out. That is why it is so 6 important that we at least get temporary relief to examine the 7 systems and to hold off the certification or decertify or ask 8 the Court to halt the proceedings continuing right now until 9 we can have a few days to examine the machines and get the 10 actual evidence off the machines and look at the ballots
11 themselves, because we know there were a number of counterfeit 12 ballots that were used in the Fulton County count that night.
13 It would be a simple matter to examine 100,000 or so ballots
14 and look at which ones are fake. It is possible to determine 15 that with relative ease.

16 This is not about who or which government officials 17 knew anything was wrong with the machine. It's entirely 18 possible that many people did not know anything was wrong with 19 them. But it is about ensuring the integrity of the vote and 20 the confidence of the people that the will they expressed in 21 their vote is what actually determines the election. Very few 22 people in this country have any confidence in that level right 23 now. Very few.

24 The standard is only preponderance of the evidence.
25 We have shown more than enough for a prima facie case to get

1 to -- meet the standard required -- this Court is required to 2 apply. It is crucial that we decertify and stop the vote. We 3 need to have discovery. It's so important to the American 4 people, particularly in a country that is built on the rule of 5 law, to know that their election system is fair and honest.

6 THE COURT: But that rule of law limits where these 7 suits can be filed and who can bring them. Specifically on 8 the standing issue, how does your -- how do your clients
9 survive the motion to dismiss with respect to the standing 10 issue if I don't follow the 8th Circuit's case opinion in 11 Carson?

12 MS. POWELL: Even the Court's decision in Wood is so 13 distinguishable it should make clear electors have standing.
14 In that case, for example, the State could not even say who 15 did have standing. But under the Constitution, electors 16 clearly do.

17 THE COURT: But Georgia, unlike Minnesota,
18 differentiates between candidates and Presidential electors.
19 Right?

20 MS. POWELL: I am not sure about that. But we also 21 have the Cobb County Republican Party official who is suing,
22 and the electors themselves are part of the Constitutional 23 Clause that entitles them to standing.

24 THE COURT: I just think you have a pretty glib 25 response to what the 11th Circuit has held regarding these

1 cases. I mean, the 11th Circuit has basically said, you know,
2 we are not -- the Federal Courts are courts of limited 3 jurisdiction and we are not open 24/7 to remedy every 4 freewheeling constitutional issue that comes up. They have 5 made it clear, the Appellate Courts have made it clear, they 6 don't want District Courts handling this matter, they want 7 State Courts handling State election disputes, even regarding 8 in Federal elections. The Federal Government has nothing to 9 do with the State election and how it is conducted. As you
10 said, it is the Secretary of State who is the chief election
11 officer, and decides it. Why shouldn't the State of Georgia 12 investigate this? Why should it be a Federal judge?

13 MS. POWELL: Because we raise Federal constitutional 14 issues that are paramount to --

15 THE COURT: They raised Federal constitutional 16 issues in Wood.

17 MS. POWELL: -- to equal protection. He did not 18 request decertification. That is one of the things that 19 distinguished that case. He was not an elector or 20 representative of a county. He was simply an individual. And 21 I am not sure that decision is correct because, in that case,
22 they were also wondering who could challenge it. Well 23 obviously the Federal Equal Protection Clause and the 24 constitutional issues we have raised here give this Court 25 Federal question jurisdiction. This Court's one of the 1 primary checks and balances on the level of fraud that we are 2 experiencing here. It is extremely important that this Court

3 exercise its jurisdiction as a gatekeeper on these issues.
4 There were numerous departures from the State statute,
5 including the early processing of votes, and the de facto
6 abolition of signature matches that give rise to Federal Equal 7 Protection claims.

8 THE COURT: Well, back to the standing question.
9 You know, the Plaintiffs allege that their interests are the 10 same, basically one in the same, as any Georgia voters. In 11 Paragraph 156 of the complaint they aver that Defendants
12 diluted the lawful ballots of Plaintiffs and of other Georgia 13 voters and electors. Further, Defendants allege that -- the 14 Plaintiffs allege that Defendants further violated Georgia
15 voters's rights, and they allege, the Plaintiffs, that quote, 16 all candidates, political parties, voters, including without 17 limitation Plaintiffs, have a vested interest. It doesn't 18 sound like your clients are special, that they have some 19 unique status that they enjoy that allows them to bring this 20 suit instead of anyone else. How do they have standing?

21 MS. POWELL: They have the unique status of being 22 the Presidential electors selected to vote for Donald Trump at 23 the electoral college. They were not certified as -- and 24 decertification is required to make sure they can do their 25 jobs that they were selected to do.

1 THE COURT: Under the 3rd Circuit case, does your 2 theory survive?

3 MS. POWELL: Our theory is -- I think the 3rd
4 Circuit decision is wrong, the 8th Circuit decision is 5 correct. There is no circumstance in which a Federal elector 6 should not be able to seek relief in Federal Court, thanks to 7 our Constitution. It is one of our most important principles.

8 There were multiple means of fraud committed here.
9 We have also the military intelligence proof of interference 10 in the election, the Ware County 37 votes being flipped, the 11 video of the Fulton City vote count, they lied about the water 12 leak, they ran off observers, they brought in unusually 13 packaged ballots from underneath a table. One person is seen
14 scanning the same QR code three different times in the machine
15 and big batch of ballots which would explain why the same 16 number of ballots gets injected repeated into the system.
17 That corresponds with the math and the algorithms showing a 18 spike of 26,000 Biden votes at that time. After Trump's lead 19 of 103,997 votes there were mysteriously 4800 votes injected
20 into the system here in Georgia multiple times, the same 21 number, 4800 repeatedly. That simply doesn't happen in the 22 absence of fraud. All of the facts we have laid out in our 23 well-pleaded complaint require that this Court decertify the 24 election results or at least, at the very least, stop the 25 process now in a timely fashion and give us an opportunity to

1 examine the machines in ten counties and get further
2 discovery, particularly of what happened in Fulton County.
3 Those things need to be resolved before any citizen of Georgia
4 can have any confidence in the results of this election.

5 Allowing voters to cast ballots that are solely 6 counted based on their voting designations and not on an 7 unencrypted humanly unverifiable QR code that can be subject 8 to external manipulation and does not allow proper voter 9 verification and ballot vote auditing cannot withstand the 10 scrutiny of a Federal Court and cannot pass muster as a 11 legitimate voting system in the United States of America. For 12 those reasons, we request the Court to deny the motion to 13 dismiss, allow us a few days, perhaps even just five, to 14 conduct an examination of the machines that we have requested 15 from the beginning, and find out exactly what went on and give 16 the Court further evidence it might want to rule in our favor, 17 because the fraud that has happened here has destroyed any 18 public confidence that the will of the people is reflected in 19 their vote, and just simply cannot stand.

20 THE COURT: Thank you, ma'am. All right, rebuttal?
21 This is Josh Belinfante.

22 MR. BELINFANTE: Just briefly, Your Honor. Your 23 Honor, just a few points. One, I want the get back to 24 Colorado River abstention. There was a means and a process to 25 do that. You had asked earlier about their response. I did

1 go back and check. The Siegel case they rely on cites to only 2 Burford and Pullman abstention, not Colorado River. It is 3 appropriate in this case, and as the Michigan Court concluded, 4 the Moses Cone case which establishes it says that there is 5 really not a reason not to do so when you have concurrent 6 jurisdiction.

7 And that is one of the problems with the Plaintiffs'
8 argument. They keep telling you that they can't go to State 9 Court because they have Federal constitutional claims. Those 10 can be litigated in State Court pursuant to 1983. They also 11 say on laches that -- it is interesting, they have cited to 12 you and read to you numerous aspects of the Curling case, and 13 they say that going back to 2006 somebody thought that there 14 was something wrong with these machines. Well if that's the 15 case, then it makes the laches argument even stronger. These 16 are the arguments that they are about the machines. They 17 certainly could have been litigated prior to after the 18 certification of the election.

19 The other big problem that they raise is that the 20 Curling case, everything that was read was stayed by the 11th
21 Circuit, presuming that it is reading the part of the opinion
22 that I think it is. If it is going back to a prior opinion, 23 that is about old machines which aren't even used anymore.
24 And then in Ware County, that was provided in an affidavit 25 that was new as part of the reply brief, it should not be

1 counted. There is authority for that, Sharpe v. Global 2 Security International from the Southern District of Alabama,
3 from 2011. But even still, that can be brought in the State
4 Court under the challenge mechanisms set.

5 You asked what is the authority for decertifying the 6 election. The citation was Bush v. Gore. Bush v. Gore stayed 7 a Florida recount, it did not decertify the election. But 8 most importantly, what Bush v. Gore said is, when there is a 9 State process, the Elections Clause says that has to continue.
10 And they have not shown you that the State process is 11 insufficient, invalid, whatsoever. On standing, they find 12 themselves in a bind. If they are candidates as electors, the 13 State election code says you can bring a challenge under 14 21-2-522. If they are not candidates and the 3rd Circuit
15 reasoning applies, then the 11th Circuit in Wood would apply 16 too, and say that when you are not a candidate you don't have 17 standing. So either way, they find themselves out of Federal 18 jurisdiction on these arguments.

19 Just a few points on closing. They tell you that 20 the voters lack confidence in the election system. Well, 21 since 2018 candidates that were not successful have tried to 22 overturn the rule of voters in the Courts. Since 2018 courts
23 have stayed with the State of Georgia and upheld Georgia's 24 election laws and Georgia's election machines. This Court 25 should do the same. The State is doing what it can to enhance

1 public confidence. That is why we went the extra step of a 2 hand count, not that pushes ballots through a machine, but 3 that looks at what the ballot says, and when the voter had 4 access to that ballot they could see too. And if they voted 5 for Donald Trump it will show it on the ballot; if they voted 6 for Joe Biden it will show it on the ballot. And if not, they 7 can correct it right there. That is the actions that instill 8 confidence, not this. And if they want to challenge those 9 election results, the State Courts are open for them to do it, 10 there are hearings scheduled now, and those hearings should 11 proceed and not this one. Thank you.

12 THE COURT: Thank you, sir. Ms. Callais, did you 13 have anything else?

14 MS. CALLAIS: No, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much. I have 16 considered the entire record in the case and I find that, even 17 accepting as true every averment of the complaint, I find that 18 this Court must grant the Defendants' motions to dismiss, both 19 of the motions to dismiss, beginning with the proposition that 20 Federal Courts are courts of limited jurisdiction; they are 21 not the legal equivalent to medical hospitals which have 22 emergency rooms that are open 24/7 to all comers. On the 23 contrary, the 11th Circuit has specifically held that Federal 24 Courts don't entertain post election contests about vote 25 counting and misconduct that may properly be filed in the

1 State courts. So whether the Defendants have been subjected 2 to a Federal claim, which is Equal Protection, Due Process, 3 Elections Clause and Electors Clause, it does not matter. The 4 11th Circuit has said these claims in this circuit must be 5 brought in State court. There is no question that Georgia has 6 a statute that explicitly directs that election contests be 7 filed in Georgia Superior Courts, and that is what our Federal 8 Courts have said in this circuit, it is that is exactly right.

9 Sometimes Federal judges are criticized for 10 committing the sin of judicial activism. The appellate courts 11 have responded to that and said enough is enough is right. In 12 fact, enough is too much. And the courts have convincingly 13 held that these types of cases are not properly before Federal 14 Courts, that they are State elections, State courts should 15 evaluate these proceedings from start to finish.

16 Moreover, the Plaintiffs simply do not have standing 17 to bring these claims. This Court rejects the 8th Circuit's 18 nonbinding persuasive-value-only holding in Carson vs Simon
19 and I find that the Defendants -- excuse me -- the Plaintiffs 20 don't have standing, because anyone could have brought this 21 suit and raised the exact same arguments and made the exact 22 same allegations that the Plaintiffs have made in their 23 complaint. The Plaintiffs have essentially alleged in their 24 pleading that their interests are one and the same as any 25 Georgia voter. I do not believe that the 11th Circuit would

1 follow the reasoning of the 8th circuit in Carson.

2 Additionally, I find that the Plaintiffs waited too
3 late to file this suit. Their primary complaint involves the 4 Dominion ballot marking devices. They say that those machines
5 are susceptible to fraud. There is no reason they could not 6 have followed the Administrative Procedure Act and objected to 7 the rule-making authority that had been exercised by the 8 Secretary of State. This suit could have been filed months 9 ago at the time the machines were adopted. Instead, the 10 Plaintiffs waited until over three weeks after the election to 11 file the suit. There is no question in my mind that if I were 12 to deny the motions to dismiss, the matter would be brought 13 before the 11th Circuit and the 11th Circuit would reverse me.
14 The relief that the Plaintiffs seek, this Court cannot grant.
15 They ask the Court to order the Secretary of State to 16 decertify the election results as if such a mechanism even 17 exists, and I find that it does not. The 11th Circuit said as 18 much in the Wood case on Saturday.

19 Finally, in their complaint, the Plaintiffs
20 essentially ask the Court for perhaps the most extraordinary 21 relief ever sought in any Federal Court in connection with an 22 election. They want this Court to substitute its judgment for 23 that of two-and-a-half million Georgia voters who voted for 24 Joe Biden, and this I am unwilling to do.

25 The motion for temporary restraining order that was

1 entered on November 29 is dissolved. The motions to dismiss
2 are granted. And we are adjourned.

3 (end of hearing at 11:07 a.m.)
