911 Transcript-Employee-1

911 Operator: New York City 911 do you need the police, fire or medical?

Caller: Police.

911 Operator: What's the location?

Caller: 272 Broadway between Marcy and Havemeyer Avenue. It's a Dunkin Donuts.

911 Operator: Ok, 2-7-2 Broadway Havemeyer Street.

Caller: And Marcy.

911 Operator: And Marcy.

Caller: Yes.

911 Operator: Give me one second. Dunkin Donuts. What's the emergency here?

Caller: Listen, there's a guy here. He's very agitated. I don't know if he has any weapons but he's getting very loud.

911 Operator: Okay, ma'am slow down you're talking really fast. I understand you're upset. It's a male white, black or hispanic?

Caller: He's white, he's tall about 6'4". He's got all black on and he's wants - he's asking for something that we cannot provide him with.

911 Operator: What is he asking you for?

Caller: He wants six pumpkin donuts. It's the stupidest thing.

911 Operator: Oh okay.

Caller: He wants six pumpkin donuts, but we only have five at the moment so now he's screaming all in our face, telling us "You're gonna fucking make it." I don't know if he has any weapons on him because he's got his hands in his pocket and he just doesn't - he refuses to leave and he just keeps going back and forth.

911 Operator: What is your name?

Caller: [REDACTED]

911 Operator: What's the phone number you are calling me from?

Caller: [REDACTED]

911 Operator: Job is in. [unintelligible] The police is coming, ok.

Caller: Thank you.
