I read this and it confirms how far we can go with this thing, I will not stop and nobody can try and stop me. I will fight day and night to generate a worldwide audience who loves Crypto Queen and OneCoin.

You are for sure a very special person and I could never dream of meeting somebody like you. We have our difference at times, however have the same common ambition and goals. We set the rules along the way and do not take no for an answer.

You have added a a very special place in my heart and no matter what I am there for you no matter where in the world I am. I have set my targets and goals for the year and they are aggressive, would not have it any other way. We will make it.

And then finally finding our freedom and kicking ass. I had to give up some things - there is no way back to the traditional world I guess, but now some months later i came to terms on it. Of course it hurts a bit, but there is always a price to pay. I think we build up really something special. A good concept, a good team - and you have done miracles in the network. And no. I could and would never done this without you. Never. Sometimes i love you for this. Somedays i hate you for this. But you are definitely always on my mind. And we both know. Worst thing is indifference - to you i am never indifferent. So i guess i will continue growing with the challenges, even if it hurts a lot

We will ge all projects going, stabilize. And then the real work in building the coin starts. I am exhausted - but the challenge excites me. If someone can do it, it is us.

I am strong, i am tough and smart and i can handle a lot - but sometimes even i need someone. And this someone is you. We created a lot of things together - and for me you really feel like family. The evil brother i never had, but would have loved to have. Every year there are people who came new in my life and make a difference on me as a person. This year there are four of them - and you you are on top of this list.

We both have a lot in common, we are not "good", we don t want and don t need to fit in, we make the rules, we take what we want and prefer to ask for forgiveness than for permission. We enjoy life, we like the kicks and thrills - and don t apologize for it. I will always be there for you, whatever happens - friends don't judge, they help first - and beat you and ask questions afterwards :)
