7. Nature of the Proceedings, Summary of Complaint and Defenses

a. Nature of the Proceedings

On August 9, 2021, Plaintiff filed the instant civil action, which is currently pending before this Court in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. Plaintiff alleges two causes of action pursuant to New York law, for battery and intentional infliction of emotional distress, arising from Defendant's alleged sexual abuse of Plaintiff in 2001, and seeks monetary damages. The Court anticipates that the case will be tried to a jury in the fall of 2022. Presently, the parties are engaged in pre-trial discovery, which the Court has ordered by completed on or before 14 July 2022. The Court has not yet considered the merits of the claims and defenses of the parties.

b. Summary of Complaint

Plaintiff alleges that she was a victim of sexual abuse at the hands of Jeffrey Epstein ("Epstein"), Ghislaine Maxwell ("Maxwell") and others, and that she was loaned out by Epstein to his male associates and friends for sex as part of Epstein's purported sex trafficking scheme. Plaintiff alleges that one of those individuals to whom she was loaned out for sex is Defendant. Plaintiff further alleges that she was forced by Epstein, Maxwell and Defendant to have sex with Defendant without her consent on three separate occasions in 2001, when she was 17 and 18 years old. Plaintiff alleges those three instances of purported sexual abuse occurred in the United Kingdom, New York City and the U.S. Virgin Islands, respectively. Plaintiff contends that Defendant was aware that she was a minor at the time and that she was a victim of sex trafficking and abuse by Epstein and Maxwell, and consequently knew that Plaintiff did not consent to engage in sexual acts with him. Plaintiff also alleges that on of these occasions, in New York City, she also witnessed Defendant sexually abuse another victim.

Plaintiff claims that she has suffered and continues to suffered significant emotional and psychological distress and harm due to Defendant's alleged conduct, including sexual assault, and that, as a result, she has suffered and will continue to suffer substantial damages, including extreme emotional distress, humiliation, fear, psychological trauma, loss of dignity and self-esteem, and invasion of her privacy. Plaintiff seeks compensatory, consequential, exemplary and punitive damages in an amount to be determined at trial, as well as costs of suit and attorneys' fees.

c. Summary of Defense

Defendant denies Plaintiff's allegations in full, including the claims that he sexually assaulted her and sexually abused another victim in front of her; that he was aware of Plaintiff's purported abuse by Epstein and Maxwell; and that Defendant threatened, forced, or otherwise compelled her to engage in sexual acts at any time. Defendant believes that Plaintiff claims to have been trafficked by Epstein to a list of various high-profile individuals (a list that has changed over time) in an effort to deflect from her own participation in Epstein's sex trafficking scheme, including by recruiting young women (including at least one 14 year old girl) to become sexual partners for Epstein. Plaintiff's alleged criminal conduct was the subject of sworn testimony offered at the recent criminal trial of Maxwell. Defendant also contends that Plaintiff may suffer from false memories, as evidenced by the fact that her claims regarding her time with Epstein and the circumstances under which Defendant allegedly assaulted her have repeatedly changed over the years. Defendant also contends that Plaintiff's own affirmative decision to publicly disclose her identity and alleged abuse in a series of media interviews contributed to any purported emotional distress and invasion of privacy she claims to have suffered.

Defendant has asserted other affirmative defenses, including that the Complaint is barred pursuant to a release under the terms of a 2009 Settlement Agreement between Plaintiff and Epstein, of which Defendant is a third party beneficiary, and that the Complaint is time-barred under the applicable statutes of limitations. Defendant has also raised a potential objection to the Court's subject matter jurisdiction over the action on the basis that Plaintiff is domiciled in Australia and not in any state in the United States.

c. Other Necessary Information

The parties are currently engaged in pre-trial discovery. This Court has set a deadline for the parties to complete pre-trial discovery on or before 14 July 2022. This Court anticipates that this case will be tried before a jury in or about the fall of 2022. Defendant contends that the information sought by this Letter of Request is available to the Secretary to the Attorney-General's Department of the Commonwealth of Australia and/or the Supreme Court of New South Wales. This Court respectfully requests that the Secretary to the Attorney-General's Department of the Commonwealth of Australia act on this request as expeditiously as is practicable.

b. Purpose of the Evidence Sought

The evidence sought is necessary for the parties' preparation of this case for trial and for Defendant to test the veracity of the allegations made by Plaintiff, including her claim to have been under threat of death or bodily harm from Epstein and Maxwell, her alleged severe emotional distress and psychological harm, and the causal nexus between any such harm and the alleged conduct of Defendant.
