17 Plaintiffs Paul Gancarz, Daniel Turetchi, Colton Brown, James Johnson, and 18 Amelia Johnson (together “Plaintiffs”), for their complaint against Defendant David 19 Alan Capito II, aka Vyacheslav Arkangelskiy (“Capito”), allege as follows:

20 //
21 - Page 1

INTRODUCTION

1
2 1. Plaintiffs, by this complaint, seek redress for the particular and 3 severe harms Defendant Capito has inflicted on them. At a deeper level, this 4 complaint seeks to vindicate the rule of law and basic principles of free 5 expression for persons who espouse unpopular opinions.

6 2. Plaintiffs are members of, or have affiliation with, an 7 organization called Patriot Front, whose mission is to “reforge . . . our 8 people, born to this nation of our European race . . . as a new collective 9 capable of asserting our right to cultural independence.” In accordance with 10 this mission, members of Patriot Front sometimes engage in provocative 11 activism. While provocative, this activism is nonviolent. Patriot Front in fact 12 prohibits its members from engaging in offensive violence.

13 3. Patriot Front’s mission and activism have aroused the 14 antagonism of many persons and organizations, who have inflicted on 15 Patriot Front members the harsh aspects of doxxing: physical violence, 16 threats, harassment, losses of vocation, and defamation, to name a few.
17 Patriot Front, accordingly, seeks to protect the confidentiality and privacy of 18 its members’ identities, as is their First Amendment right.

1           4.     Defendant Capito and those who have aided and abetted him, 2 however, do not believe that persons affiliated with the Patriot Front have 3 rights of confidentiality or indeed any First Amendment rights at all. More 4 specifically, as explained in this complaint, Capito, also known as 5 Vyacheslav Arkangelskiy, infiltrated Patriot Front using a false identity and later 6 gained unauthorized access to confidential information about the Plaintiffs from 7 Patriot Front’s computer databases. With the assistance (and possibly prior 8 cooperation) of organizations such as Distributed Denial of Secrets, Inc.
9 (“DDOS”), this confidential information was then widely published and used to 10 harass and threaten the Plaintiffs, with the aim, and result, of doxxing them and 11 other Patriot Front members and causing them serious harm, including loss of their 12 jobs.

13           5.     From Justice Holmes’ dissent in Abrams v. United States, 250 U.S.
14 616 (1919) to Brandenburg v. Ohio, 395 U.S. 444 (1969), Snyder v. Phelps, 562 15 U.S. 443 (2011), and Matal v. Tam, 582 U.S. ____ (2017), and in many other 16 cases, the Supreme Court has stayed true to the principle that dissidents must be 17 given breathing space to express their views, however unpopular or offensive to 18 many. The lawlessness and fraud Defendant Capito has perpetrated is inimical to 1 this breathing space. Capito, accordingly, must be held accountable for his 2 actions, as this complaint seeks.

3 PARTIES

4 6. Plaintiff Paul Gancarz is a resident of Virginia. Before 5 Defendant Capito's unlawful and tortious actions as described in this 6 complaint, Mr. Gancarz was a civil engineer, earning approximately 7 $107,000 a year. He lost that job as result of Capito's actions.

8 7. Plaintiff Daniel Turechi at this time is a resident of 9 Pennsylvania. Before Defendant Capito's unlawful and tortious actions, he 10 was working as a real estate agent in Maryland earning in excess of $10,000
11 a year. As a result of Capito's unlawful actions, Turechi was discharged 12 from the real estate brokerage where he was employed as a real estate agent 13 and was unable to associate with any other brokerage, thus preventing him 14 from continuing to pursue his real estate career.

15 8. Plaintiff Colton Brown at this time is a resident of Utah. Before 16 Defendant Capito's unlawful and tortious actions, he was an electrician's 17 assistant in Washington state earning approximately $50,000 a year. He lost 18 that job as a result of Capito's actions.

19

1           14.     As Defendant Capito is a resident of Washington, this Court's 2 exercise of personal jurisdiction over him is reasonable and consistent with 3 traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.

4           15.     In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1367, this Court may exercise 5 supplemental jurisdiction over the state law claims alleged herein, which 6 form part of the same case or controversy.

7                   FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS COMMON TO ALL COUNTS

8           16.     Defendant Capito's history reveals a proclivity to violence, 9 acts of harassment, and computer hacking.

10          17.     For example, Capito is a member of and has been the main 11 spokesperson for the Puget Sound John Brown Gun Club, a heavily armed 12 anarchist militia. In or about 2020, using the alias "Nick Vasiliiy," Capito 13 gave an interview to NPR News while wearing a necklace fashioned from a 14 bullet once belonging to a domestic terrorist named Willem van Spronsen.
15 Spronsen, a member of the Puget Sound John Brown Gun Club, died in a 16 shootout with police after firebombing a government facility in Tacoma, 17 Washington in 2019.

18          18.     In or about 2021, Capito was profiled by journalist Kim Kelly 19 in an article written for GEN. In the article, Capito described in detail the

1 process of 3D printing "ghost guns." Ghost guns are untraceable firearms without 2 serial numbers that can be assembled from a combination of 3D printed and metal 3 parts, which are often sold as "ghost gun kits" online.

4 19. In 2019, a domestic abuse petition seeking and obtaining a TRO was 5 filed against Capito. The petitioner alleged Capito was stalking her and asserted 6 that "I am concerned for my safety as he has several firearms, is well trained in 7 Krav Maga, has boasted he is immune to pepper spray, is proud he can pick locks, 8 and has explained several ways he has or would like to hack certain computer 9 systems."

10 20. In late July 2021, Capito joined Patriot Front with the goal of 11 infiltrating the group and causing harm to its members. By using the false name 12 and identity of "Vincent Washington" and lying about his background and values, 13 Capito convinced Patriot Front to accept him for membership.

14 21. Capito was instructed that, although Patriot Front prohibits offensive 15 violence by its members and seeks to exercise its advocacy within First 16 Amendment boundaries, in light of the possibility of malicious doxxing any 17 information he obtained regarding Patriot Front members or potential members 18 was to be kept confidential. Capito disregarded these instructions.

1           22.     Because of Capito's experience as a professional photographer, 2 Patriot Front assigned him to take photos for some of their local get-togethers in 3 the Pacific Northwest. When nobody was watching, Capito abused his role by 4 taking photographs of members' license plates and other personal information in 5 order to expose their identities later.

6           23.     Using his false identity, Capito also ingratiated himself into the 7 social circles of some Patriot Front members, where he used hidden 8 microphones and cameras to record them.

9           24.     In or about November 2021, Capito got in touch with DDOS, a 10 group of anarchist hackers who were responsible for major security breaches 11 targeting right-wing websites. DDOS assisted him in exploiting Patriot 12 Front's chat platform to obtain access to private chatrooms.

13           25.     Specifically, Capito used his access to the Patriot Front server 14 to execute a session hijack attack, a sophisticated type of cyber-attack which 15 grants the attacker administrator level privileges to information stored on the 16 target server which he would not have otherwise had access to. In an attempt 17 to distract from this attack and ensure its success, Capito also conducted a 18 simultaneous denial of service attack against Patriot Front's website.

1           26. Using his unauthorized administrator privileges in the chat server, 2 Capito was able to download private chats and intercept video links, which were 3 later published on the DDOS website. He was exposed by Patriot Front's security 4 team in mid-December 2021 and his fraudulently-obtained and unauthorized 5 access was removed.

6           27. Capito also used the confidential information he had improperly 7 obtained to harass Patriot Front members by trespassing on their property, slashing 8 the tires on their automobiles, circulating flyers and posters in their neighborhoods, 9 and other harassment tactics.

10          28. As described above, Capito led a coordinated doxxing campaign 11 against the Plaintiffs and other Patriot Front members. This coordinated doxxing 12 campaign had multiple phases or components.

13          29. First, Capito, using fraudulent, unlawful, and tortious means, obtained 14 sensitive and confidential information regarding the Plaintiffs, including their 15 home addresses, places of employment, and social activities, such as their health 16 club membership information.

17          30. Second, Capito and his accomplices arranged to widely publish this 18 sensitive and confidential information, with the aim and result of harming the 19 Plaintiffs in their vocations and personal lives.

1           31. Third, in conjunction with and / or separate from the 2 publication of the confidential and sensitive information, Capito and his 3 accomplices exploited the information to physically harm, harass, and 4 threaten the Plaintiffs at their homes, places of employment, or elsewhere, 5 by trespassing on their property, making harassing telephone calls, slashing 6 automobile tires, placing hostile flyers in Plaintiffs' neighborhoods, and 7 other means.

8           32. Plaintiff Paul Gancarz was a victim of this coordinated doxxing 9 campaign. In late January 2022, Capito and his accomplices, using sensitive 10 confidential information regarding Gancarz that Capito had unlawfully and 11 tortiously obtained, caused Gancarz's termination from his employment as a 12 civil engineer, where he was earning $107,000 a year. They did so by 13 repeated harassing and threatening telephone calls to Gancarz's employer.
14 As Gancarz had been a competent, reliable, and loyal employee who got 15 along well with the other employees (and never injected political matters 16 into his work), the employer initially resisted this harassment. Eventually, 17 however, the employer gave in and fired Gancarz.

18           33. Plaintiff Daniel Turechi was another victim of the coordinated 19 doxxing campaign. In late January 2022, Capito and his accomplices, using

1 sensitive confidential information regarding Turetchi that Capito had unlawfully 2 and tortiously obtained, caused Turetchi's termination from his employment as a 3 real estate agent, where he was earning over $10,000 a year. They did so by 4 repeated harassing and threatening telephone calls to Turetchi's broker. As 5 Turetchi, like Gancarz, had been a competent, reliable, and loyal agent who got 6 along well with the other employees (and never injected political matters into his 7 work), the broker initially resisted this harassment. Eventually, however, after 8 Capito and his accomplices also began harassing phone calls to the Great 9 Baltimore Board of Realtors, the broker gave in and fired Turetchi.

10 34. Plaintiff Colton Brown was another victim of the coordinated doxxing 11 campaign. Brown was the Patriot Front representative whom Capito defrauded into 12 allowing Capito into Patriot Front membership. Before Capito's unlawful actions, 13 Brown was living at his parents' home and working as an electrician's assistant 14 earning approximately $50,000 a year. As a result of Capito's unlawful actions, 15 which included not only malicious doxxing but trespassing onto the Browns' 16 property, taking photographs of the property, and posting the photographs as part 17 of the doxxing, Brown lost his job and became estranged from his father, who 18 required him to leave the Brown residence. Brown thus found himself without a 19 home and without a job. Brown, consequently, left Washington for possible

1 employment in another state, where, however, he also encountered
2 difficulties finding employment as a result of Capito's coordinated doxxing 3 campaign.

4       35. Plaintiff James Johnson was another victim of the coordinated 5 doxxing campaign. Johnson and his wife Amelia were doxxed by Capito and 6 his accomplices in December 2021. Before the doxx, James Johnson had 7 been working as a union HVAC technician earning approximately $80,000 a 8 year. Following the December 2021 doxx and as a result of it, hundreds of 9 hostile flyers were posted around the Johnson's house. The doxxing and 10 flyers created a hostile environment for the Johnsons in their neighborhood 11 and, given Capito's known proclivity for harassment and violence, the 12 Johnsons moved out of the neighborhood. Their move required James 13 Johnson to relocate his workplace and disrupted his relationship with his 14 union, resulting in a one-third loss in his yearly income and a loss of 15 benefits.

16       36. Plaintiff Amelia Johnson was another victim of the coordinated 17 doxxing campaign. As described in the prior paragraph, the actions of Capito 18 and his accomplices created a hostile environment for the Johnsons in their 19 neighborhood, forcing them to move. These actions also resulted in Amelia

1 Johnson bring fired from her job in which she was earning $60,000 a year and her 2 inability to find new employment.

3 CAUSES OF ACTION

4 I. Federal Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, 18 U.S.C. 1030 (“CFAA”) –
5 All Plaintiffs

6 37. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate the allegations set forth in 7 Paragraphs 1 through 36.

8 38. The computer that Defendant Capito accessed as described in prior 9 paragraphs was a “protected computer” as defined under the CFAA.

10 39. Capito intentionally accessed this computer.

11 40. Capito’s access was unauthorized and / or exceeded authorization as 12 defined in the CFAA, in that Capito used a false and fraudulent identity to gain 13 access to the Patriot Front and its computer and computer databases and in 14 violation of Patriot Front policies and instructions used his access to collect and 15 transmit confidential information to persons and organizations hostile to Patriot 16 Front and its members.

17 41. Plaintiffs each suffered economic losses in excess of $5,000 as a result 18 of Capito’s unauthorized access or access in excess of authorization to the Patriot 19 Front computer and databases. Plaintiffs also suffered other economic losses as 20 well as mental distress.

- Page 13

1           II. Invasion of Privacy – Intrusion on Private Affairs – All Plaintiffs

2           42. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate the allegations set forth in 3 Paragraphs 1 through 36.

4           43. Plaintiffs had a reasonable expectation of privacy with respect 5 to their Patriot Front membership and related information, especially vis-a-6 vis Defendant Capito, who has a history of violence and harassment and was 7 highly hostile toward Patriot Front and its members.

8           44. Caputo intruded upon this aspect of Plaintiffs’ private affairs.

9           45. This intrusion would be highly offensive to any reasonable 10 person who held unusual or unpopular opinions that were often 11 misinterpreted or distorted by the general public and mainstream media and 12 subjected the person to potential threats, harassment, and loss of vocation.

13           46. Plaintiffs each suffered economic losses as described in 14 paragraphs 32-36 as a result of Capito’s invasion of their privacy, and 15 suffered other economic losses, as well as mental distress.

16           III. Invasion of Privacy – Giving Publicity to Private Facts – All Plaintiffs

17           47. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate the allegations set forth in 18 Paragraphs 1 through 36.

1           48. Plaintiffs had a reasonable expectation of privacy with respect to their 2 Patriot Front membership and related information, especially vis-a-vis Defendant 3 Capito, who has a history of violence and harassment and was highly hostile 4 toward Patriot Front and its members.

5           49. Capito violated this privacy by giving publicity to Plaintiffs' Patriot 6 Front membership and related information, especially given that Capito arranged 7 for this information to be widely disseminated through the cooperation and 8 assistance of DDOS and Unicorn Riot.

9           50. Capito's violation of Plaintiffs' privacy as described above would be 10 highly offensive to any reasonable person who held unusual or unpopular opinions 11 that were often misinterpreted or distorted by the general public and mainstream 12 media and subjected the person to potential threats, harassment, and loss of 13 vocation.

14           51. There is no legitimate public interest that could excuse or justify 15 Capito's use of unlawful and criminal actions, such as violation of the Computer 16 Fraud and Abuse Act, to infiltrate and expose the persons such as Plaintiffs to 17 persecution, including threats, harassment, and loss of vocation, based on those 18 persons' unpopular ideology.

1 52. Plaintiffs each suffered economic losses as described in
2 paragraphs 32-36 as a result of Capito’s invasion of their privacy, and 3 suffered other economic losses, as well as mental distress.

4 IV. Virginia Computer Trespass Act, Civil Action, § 18.2-152.12 Virginia
5 Code – Paul Garcanz

6 53. Plaintiff Garcanz realleges and incorporates the allegations set 7 forth in Paragraphs 1 through 36.

8 54. The computer that Defendant Capito accessed as described in 9 prior paragraphs was a computer as defined in § 18.2-152.2 of the Virginia 10 Computer Trespass Act.

11 55. Capito with malicious intent and by deceptive means accessed 12 this computer and the database thereon and performed “computer 13 operations” as defined in § 18.2-152.2 of the Virginia Computer Trespass 14 Act.

15 56. Capito’s access to the computer and databases and use of 16 computer operations was “without authority,” as that term is defined in § 17 18.2-152.2 of the Virginia Computer Trespass Act.

18 57. As described in paragraph 32, Gancarz suffered economic 19 losses in excess of $25,000 as a result of Capito’s unauthorized access and 20 computer operations, in that he lost his civil engineering job, for which he

1 had been earning $107,000 a year, and suffered other economic losses, as well as 2 mental distress.

3 V. Maryland Unauthorized Access to Computers Act, Civil Action, § 7-302
4 of Maryland Code – Daniel Turechi

5 58. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates the allegations set forth in 6 Paragraphs 1 through 36.

7 59. The computer that Defendant Capito accessed as described in prior 8 paragraphs was a “computer” as defined in § 7-302 of the Maryland Unauthorized 9 Access to Computer Act.

10 60. Capito gained access to this computer and its computer database in 11 accordance with the definitions of “access” and “computer database” in § 7-302 of 12 the Maryland Unauthorized Access to Computer Act.

13 61. Capito’s access was unauthorized, in that Capito used a false and 14 fraudulent identity to gain access to the Patriot Front and its computer and 15 computer databases and in violation of Patriot Front policies and instructions used 16 his access to collect and transmit confidential information to persons and 17 organizations hostile to Patriot Front and its members.

18 62. As described in paragraph 33, Turechi suffered losses as a result of 19 Capito’s unauthorized access and computer operations, in that he lost his job as a 1 real estate agent, for which he had been earning $25,000 a year, and suffered 2 other economic losses, as well as mental distress.

3 VI. Fraud – Misrepresentation - Colton Brown

4 63. Plaintiff realleges and incorporates the allegations set forth in 5 Paragraphs 1 through 36.

6 64. Capito represented to Brown, among other representations, that 7 Capito's name was Vincent Washington, that he was sympathetic to Patriot 8 Front's mission and values, and that he would keep confidential all 9 information he learned as a Patriot Front member or potential member.

10 65. These representations were false.

11 66. Capito made these representations knowing they were false.

12 67. Capito intended that Brown and others affiliated with Patriot 13 Front rely on these false representations.

14 68. Brown did in fact rely on the representations.

15 69. Brown's reliance was reasonable. Capito had carefully created 16 his false identity and concealed his actual identity.

17 70. Brown was injured by the misrepresentations, in that he was 18 thereby deceived into allowing Capito into the Patriot Front as a member,

1 from which position Capito was able to uncover sensitive confidential information 2 that he used to doxx Brown and others.

3 71. Moreover, Capito used the confidential material he obtained by 4 these fraudulent means to harass Brown at his home and workplace.

5 72. As a result of Capito's misrepresentations, Brown was forced to 6 relocate and thus lost substantial income.

7 73. Capito's fraud was malicious.

8 RELIEF REQUESTED

9 Plaintiffs pray for judgment to be entered against Defendant Capito as 10 follows:

11 1. Economic and non-economic damages in an amount to be determined 12 at trial;

13 2. Preliminary and injunctive relief to prevent Defendant Capito's 14 further use of confidential information as described in this complaint;

15 3. Punitive or exemplary damages as allowed by law;

16 4. Costs and reasonable attorneys' fees as allowed by law; and 17 5. Such other relief as this Court deems just and equitable.
